The Second
Guze Symposium on Alcoholism
The Challenges of College-Age Drinking

Saturday, March 2, 2002
In Memory of Samuel B. Guze, MD

Samuel B. Guze, MD, was a pioneer in the field of alcoholism research. He joined the Washington University School of Medicine faculty in 1951, served as vice chancellor and president of the Medical Center from 1971 to 1989, and headed the Department of Psychiatry from 1975 to 1989 and again from 1993 to 1997. Dr. Guze was highly respected as a researcher, an administrator and a leader in the field of psychiatry.

About the Symposium

Presenters at the symposium will include local and national experts on research related to college-age drinking who will discuss their research on such topics as:

- short-term and long-term outcomes;
- developmental perspectives;
- epidemiology of American college student alcohol use;
- differences between campuses;
- college students versus non-college peers;
- prevention and interventions.

A poster session displayed throughout the day will feature the latest findings by Missouri Alcoholism Research Center investigators on college-age drinking.

Missouri Alcoholism Research Center

Missouri Alcoholism Research Center (MARC) is one of 15 Alcoholism Research Centers funded by the U.S. National Institutes of Health. MARC is a multisite Alcoholism Research Center, with participating investigators from Missouri’s three leading research universities — Washington University (the lead institution), Saint Louis University and the University of Missouri-Columbia. Its research programs include statewide, national and international projects.
