

2009

2009 Necessary Elements in the Fundamentals of Human Subjects Research: Investigator Initiated Studies for the Study Coordinator: Flyer

Human Research Protection Office, Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.wustl.edu/hrpoconf_subres2009

Recommended Citation

Human Research Protection Office, Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis, "2009 Necessary Elements in the Fundamentals of Human Subjects Research: Investigator Initiated Studies for the Study Coordinator: Flyer" (2009). 2009 Necessary Elements in the Fundamentals of Human Subjects Research: Investigator Initiated Studies for the Study Coordinator. Paper 1.
http://digitalcommons.wustl.edu/hrpoconf_subres2009/1

This Conference Material is brought to you for free and open access by the 2009 Conferences at Digital Commons@Becker. It has been accepted for inclusion in 2009 Necessary Elements in the Fundamentals of Human Subjects Research: Investigator Initiated Studies for the Study Coordinator by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Becker. For more information, please contact engeszer@wustl.edu.

Friday, May 15, 2009

12:00 pm to 4:00 pm

Farrell Teaching and Learning Center, Holden Auditorium

for

INVESTIGATOR INITIATED STUDIES FOR THE STUDY COORDINATOR

Topics covered:

How to write a protocol outline, presented by Evan Kharasch, MD, PhD

Study Protocol, presented by Craig Coopersmith, MD

Protocol issues that warrant special attention, presented by Sarah Fowler-Dixon, PhD

After the IRB approval, presented by Sandy Dolan and Michelle Jenkerson

There is no cost for this session. Continuing Education Credits (CEUs) will be awarded.

To register go to the HRPO website, under Education at http://hrpohome.wustl.edu/study_team/education/necessary_elements_investigator_initiated.aspx

This program is sponsored by the Necessary Elements steering and Oversight Committees in conjunction with the Human Research Protection Office, Center for Applied Research Studies, Siteman Cancer Center, and the Vice Chancellor for Research Office.