In order to improve and broaden the character of instruction in Nursing and to prepare students not only for individual or bedside nursing, but also for service in the varied field of Public Health Nursing, for administration and teaching in hospitals and schools of nursing, and for other specialized careers, the University has organized the Training School as a School of Nursing and by further improvement of its facilities, as well as by closer co-operation with other departments, has enabled and authorized the School to offer courses leading to an academic degree in Nursing.
The School of Nursing is under the supervision and control of the School of Medicine, through an Administrative Board appointed by the Chancellor. This relationship serves to emphasize the medical and scientific aspects of nursing education, and to insure the maintenance of the highest possible professional and educational standards. By making the facilities of the University freely available to young women preparing themselves for either clinical or public health nursing, teaching or administration, the reorganized School of Nursing will serve with greater efficiency those who aspire to sound training and leadership in this field of endeavor.
