Jones honored by French government

James F. Jones, Jr., WU associate professor of Romance Languages, received the medal of the Order of the Academic Palms presented just last spring to another member of the department, Michel Romain, a professor of French. The award is exceedingly rare for two individuals to receive this high recognition within such a brief period, Collombert said.

According to Collombert, Jones, 37, is one of the youngest individuals to receive the honor. The award also is exceptional because it was presented just last spring to another member of the department, Michel Rymbaka, professor of French, and "it is exceedingly rare for two individuals of the same department to receive this high recognition within such a brief period," Collombert said.

Jones, an authority on 18th-century French literature, had his first play on the fifth level of Olin Library sponsored by Chancellor and Mrs. William H. Danforth. Mrs. Danforth's goal is to assure continuous support of the university's performing arts and sciences departments of about 350 schools across the United States and Canada. One-half of the 2,000 students who take the exam typically score less than three of a possible 120 points.

Since 1976, WU's team has consistently placed in the top 10, taking first place three times and second place three times.

"If an individual scores in the top 100 on the Putnam, then everyone knows that you're absolutely first class," says Carl Bender, professor of physics, who with Edward N. Wilson, dean of the graduate school of arts and sciences, coaches the WU Putnam contenders.

"One reason we're so pleased with the students' performance is that, when you look at the number of students who ranked in the top 100, we're rubbing shoulders with some of the best places around," says Wilson. "We have more students in

WU places second nationally in Putnam Math Competition

Maintaining a tradition of excellence, WU ranked second in the nation in the prestigious William Lowell Putnam Mathematical Competition. Edged out only by California Institute of Technology, the WU team beat such institutions as Harvard, MIT and Princeton.

Twenty-three WU students participated in the 1983 competition. Of that number, three students were chosen prior to the test as the WU team. They were Richard A. Song, a junior from Charlotte, Va., who placed seventh nationally; Paul H. Burchard, a senior from Stillwater, Okla., who placed 53rd; and Edward A. Shipz, a senior from Teaneck, N.J., who placed 46th. Also finishing in the top 200 were William H. Paulsen, Patrick J. Abegg, and Bard Bloom.

The Putnam is recognized as the most prestigious mathematics test undergraduate students are ever likely to take. It is given on the first Saturday in December within the mathematics departments of about 350 schools across the United States and Canada. One-half of the 2,000 students who take the exam typically score less than three of a possible 120 points.

Since 1976, WU's team has consistently placed in the top 10, taking first place three times and second place three times.

"If an individual scores in the top 100 on the Putnam, then everyone knows that you're absolutely first class," says Carl Bender, professor of physics, who with Edward N. Wilson, dean of the graduate school of arts and sciences, coaches the WU Putnam contenders.

"One reason we're so pleased with the students' performance is that, when you look at the number of students who ranked in the top 100, we're rubbing shoulders with some of the best places around," says Wilson. "We have more students in

Zaborszky joins national engineers' academy

John Zaborszky, WU professor and chairman of the Department of Systems Science and Mathematics, has been elected a member of the National Academy of Engineering, according to James M. McKeelvey, dean of the School of Engineering and Applied Science.

Electing to the academy is one of the highest honors in the field of engineering.

"Certainly, there are many causes for these problems; they are very complex," says Zaborszky. "That's what makes this work so challenging.

Library sponsors Goethe exhibit

"Goethe's Narrative Works," an exhibition of 53 items drawn primarily from WU's Gert von Gottard Collection of German literature, is on display on the fifth level of Olin Library. The exhibit will run through May 31.

The exhibition features many rare books and first editions. Of particular significance are two unpublished letters written by Goethe. 18th-century German poet and dramatist, and one of his drawings. Many of the volumes on display contain illustrations by important German artists or were printed by notable bookmakers of the period. Open to the public and free of charge, the exhibition can be viewed from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

For more information, call 889-5495.
Unanue succeeds Lacy as pathology head

Emil R. Unanue has been named the new head of the Department of Pathology at WU's School of Medicine. His appointment, effective Jan. 1, 1985, was announced by Chancellor William H. Danforth.

Unanue succeeds Paul E. Lacy, Edward Mallinckrodt Professor and head of the Department of Pathology. After more than 20 years as department head, Lacy has stepped down from the position to concentrate full time on his research. A member of the National Academy of Sciences, his work has advanced the field of immunology, organ transplantation and the continuing search for better diabetes treatment.

Unanue currently is on the faculty and medical school, where for the past 10 years he has been Mallinckrodt Professor of Immunopa-thology. As head of the WU pathology department, he will serve as Edward Mallinckrodt Professor of Pathology and pathologist-in-chief at Barnes, Jewish and Children's hospitals.

An immunopathologist, Unanue has focused his research on the interactions among immune system cells. He has been instrumental in showing the critical role played by macrophages, cells that destroy and ingest foreign substances. He is co-author of "Textbook of Immunology and Macrophages Regulation of Immunity."

A native of Cuba, Unanue received his BS degree in 1972 from the Institute of Secondary Education in Havana, and his MD degree in 1960 from the University of Havana School of Medicine. He served an internship in pathology at Presbyterian University Hospital in Pittsburgh.

He joined the Harvard faculty in 1970 and was named Mallinckrodt professor in 1974. Among his honors are the Parke Davis Award from the American Association of Pathologists, a Research Career Development Award from the National Institutes of Health, and a Guggenheim Fellowship from the John Simon Guggen-heim Memorial Foundation in New York.

He is associate editor of three immunology journals and holds memberships in the American Association of Pathologists, American Society for Cell Biology, American Association of Immunologists, British Society for Immunology, Reticuloendothelial Society, and the Society of Allergy and Immunology.

Harvard University Graduate School of Design.

The Steedman Travelling Fellowship is awarded annually in recognition of work that is particularly innovative, has an interdisciplinary focus, or is related to WU with a fellowship in the American Academy in Rome. The fellowship was established at WU in 1925 in memory of alumnus James Harrison Steedman, who graduated in 1889 with a degree in mechanical engineering. He died in service as a first lieutenant in the U.S. Naval Reserve during World War I.

Summer insurance deducted in May Deductions under the University Insurance Plan are based on 12 monthly deductions. For nine- and ten-month pay employees, the additional deductions for the summer months will be taken out of the May paycheck. The deductions will automatically resume with the first paycheck in the fall.

If nine- and ten-month employees do not want these additional deductions made, please contact the Personnel Office by no later than May 15.

Fulbright grants available

Applications for post-doctoral Fulbright grants for the academic year 1985-86 are now available at the Office of International Programs, 6470 Forsyth Blvd.

In interested persons should contact Ruth Frye at 889-5958, or via the campus mail at Box 1088.
Tilford Brooks, chairman and associate professor; Patricia Shehan, assistant professor, all of the Department of Music, attended the Music Educators National Conference, March 21-24, in Chicago, Ill. The WU music department organized an exhibit, aimed at recruiting students, for the conference.

Ronald L. Carlson, professor of law, and Shu Simont, a visiting professor of law, have been invited to the University of Houston, Texas, in early April to the National Mock Trial Competition. With them were the WU mock trial team of Daniel Bloom and Scott Cooper, both seniors in the School of Law. The team beat William & Mary College, split with the University of Tennessee, and lost to the University of California-Western.

Irving Gottesman, professor of genetics and psychiatry at WU's School of Medicine, received the 1984 Mortimer B. Goodman Award on April 14 from the Missouri chapter of the Alliance for the Mentally Ill, a national advocacy group by and for families of the severely and chronically mentally ill. The award is presented each year to a mental health professional in recognition of contributions to the alliance. Gottesman's research focuses on the transmission of schizophrenia.

Lewis B. Hiltson, professor emeritus in the Department of Music, wrote a paper titled "Music in the Koreanh Community, Estero, Florida," that was presented at the Music Educators National Conference, March 21-24, in Chicago, Ill.

Hu-DeHart awarded Kellogg Fellowship

Evelyn Hu-DeHart, WU associate professor of history, has been named a national fellow by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation.

The fellowship, which includes a three-year grant of $30,000, is designed to enable professionals to explore areas of research outside their usual disciplines. Forty-three fellows were chosen from nearly 900 applicants as showing exceptional potential for leadership.

Hu-DeHart, a social historian, plans to study public education in integrated communities as a Kellogg Fellow. She will explore issues that concern the British and American educational systems, including those of the Southern states.

Hu-DeHart is the author of two books on the Yaqui Indians of Mexico. She has studied in Germany, worked in a kibbutz in Israel, studied in Spain, been an exchange student and Fulbright scholar in Brazil, and taught and conducted research in Mexico and Peru.

In addition to the Kellogg award, Hu-DeHart has received fellowships from the Ford Foundation, the U.S. Department of Education, and the Social Science Research Council. She is also a Fulbright Scholar.

Martha N. Ozawa, professor of social work, delivered the second William Winston Lecture at North Carolina State University on April 26.

Ozawa presented her recent paper, "Taxes and Benefits Under Social Security: The Issue of Intergenerational Equity." Ozawa prepared a shorter version of that paper, titled "Peace Between the Young and the Old," which appeared as the guest editorial comment of the National Association of Social Worker's monthly newsletter in February. Another paper, "Women and Social Security," will be published in the May issue of "The Public Law Forum."

Michel Rybak, professor of French, was the Geraldine Hammond Visiting Professor, March 9-9, at Wichita State University. He lectured on various aspects of French literature and contemporary French intellectual life.

Hazel Z. Sprandel, associate director of Student Educational Services, was honored at the recent American College Personnel Association National Conference in Baltimore, Md. Sprandel was presented a Presidential Service Award for "outstanding commitment and service to the association."

Murry L. Weidenbaum, Edward Mallinckrodt Distinguished University Professor at the Center for the Study of American Business, has been named president-elect of the Midwest Economics Association, the largest regional association of economists. He will serve as program chairman for the association until he is installed as president in April 1985.

Robert Wiltenberg, assistant professor of English, took part in a panel discussion on April 7, titled "Teaching Composition: The Entire Spectrum," at the Fourth Annual Interinstitutional Composition Conference at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

Three medical faculty receive Javits neuroscience awards

Three faculty members at WU's School of Medicine will conduct research for the next seven years with funding from Javits Neuroscience Investigator Awards totaling nearly $2.5 million.

The recipients are Barbara A. Bohn, associate professor of otorhinolaryngology; Gerald D. Fischbach, professor and head of anatomy and neurobiology; and Dale Purves, professor of physiology and biophysics. The U.S. Congress gives the awards in honor of Senator Jacob K. Javits of New York.

The awards are for investigators who have submitted regular research grant applications for competitive review during the 1984 fiscal year and whose grants were made substantial contributions in some field of neurological or communicative sciences. The prestigious grants provide a seven-year commitment of support to the researchers who receive them.

Bohne will study the effects of noise on the inner ear in hopes of identifying early damage before hearing problems become too severe.

Fischbach's research involves the development of embryonic neurons and muscle cells in tissue culture and the formation of functional connections between them. He hopes to learn how to prevent the cells from dying and how to promote their viability. Ultimately, this work could improve treatment for chronic degenerative disease of the nervous system.

Purves will examine how the nervous system changes over time by following the formation and maintenance of connections between cells. He hopes to learn how to prevent the cells from dying and how to promote their viability. Ultimately, this work could improve treatment for chronic degenerative disease of the nervous system.

Malic speaks at WSWU luncheon

Architect Lawrence M. Malic will be the guest speaker at the annual spring luncheon of the Women's Society of WU at noon Wednesday, May 16, in the Women's Building Lounge. A business meeting at 11:00 a.m. will precede the luncheon.

Malic, assistant dean for facilities planning and development of WU's School of Business and Public Administration, will present a slide lecture, titled "Reflections and Directions for WU's Hilltop Campus."

The cost of the luncheon, which is open to the public, is $7.95. Reservations may be made by mailing a check to the Women's Society of WU, Campus Box 1209, St. Louis, Mo. 63130. The reservation deadline is May 10. For more information, call 889-5295.

Miss America? If Debbie Berman has her way, she will be the next young woman to walk the runway in the Miss America Pageant. Berman, a senior in the College of Arts & Sciences, was named Miss St. Louis on April 7. She will compete for the Miss Missouri title in Missouri, Mo., in July.
Thursday, April 26
8:30 a.m. Telecommunication Society, Telecommunications and Information Systems Issues in the Post Enlightenment. Spon-ored by CSDF. Fee is $15. Call 889-5300.
9 p.m. Hillel Study Break, "Dealing with Divorce." Helen Koenigsberg, psychotherapist, and Laya Frenycz-Selig. Friedman Lounge, Wohl Center. Call 726-6177.
Friday, April 27
7:30 p.m. Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship Meeting, "Stress, Test Taking and Aca-
Saturday, April 28
10 a.m. Departmental Interfaith Tour, sponsored by the Newman Center, 6552 Forsyth Blvd. For reservations, call 725-3558.
Sunday, April 29
5:45 p.m. Sunday Service at the Center Monthly Sunday Supper, Newman Center, 6552 Forsyth Blvd. Call 725-3558.
6 p.m. Introduction to Outdoor Vesper Service with Paul MacVittie, dir., WU Protestant Student Center. Graham Chapel.
Monday, April 30
4 p.m. Army ROTC Spring Awards Ceremony, in the Great Hall of Millbrook and Skibler Halls. In the event of bad weather, the ceremony will be conducted in Edison Theatre.
7:30 p.m. Go Club Meeting. Third fl. lounge, Women’s Bldg. For more info., call 725-9846 or 727-7149.
Tuesday, May 1
10 a.m. Personal Computing Education Center Short Course, "Introduction to Computing Fundamentals, Free to WU Community." For location or to register, call 889-5313.
4 p.m. Dept. of English Shakespeare Birthday Party. Six House, 6470 Forsyth Blvd.
Friday, May 4
7:30 p.m. Inter-Varsity Christian Friendship Meeting, Green Stuffs Line, Wohl Center.
LECTURES
Thursday, April 26
1-2 p.m. Dr. George W. Brown School of Social Work Panel Discussion, "Moving Women Up: Overcoming the Barriers." Alice Axline, WU adjunct asst. prof. of social work; Louise Reeves, acting asst. dir., Consolidated Social Service Providers and Earl M. Thomas, manager of urban programs, Ralston Pur-ina. Brown Hall Lounge.
2:30 p.m. Dept. of Mechanical Engineering Colloquium, "Corona Wind and Turbulence in Electrostatic Precipitators." Jane H. David-on, research assit., Dept. of Mechanical Engineering and Molecular Science, Duke U. 100 Capen Hall II.
4 p.m. Dept. of chemistry Lecture, "Or-ganometallic Electrochemistry: Structure/Elec-
5 p.m. Dept. of Biology Seminar, "Molecu-
Tuesday, May 1
11 a.m. Dept. of Civil Engineering Seminar, "On Some New Theoretical Develop-
Wednesday, May 2
6:30 p.m. New Trends in Medicine Alumni Lecture Series, "Open Heart Surgery: Carren Challenges and Future Directions," James M. L. Cox, WU prof. of surgery, and chief, Division of Cardiothoracic Surgery, WU School of Medicine, WU Club. 555 Mansion House Center. Cost $11.50 a person. For more info., call 889-5208.
Thursday, May 3
3 p.m. WU Art Gallery of Art Talk, "Greek Vases." Sarantis Symeonoglou, WU assoc. prof, of art and archaeology. Gallery of Art, print gallery. 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Dept. of Art.
4 p.m. School of Fine Arts Lecture, "The Paintings of the Young Germans." Wolfgang Max Faust, visiting an historian: Steinheim Aud.
Friday, May 4
9 a.m.-5 p.m. 29th George H. Bishop Lecture in Experimental Neurology and Spring Neuroscience Symposium, "Regulation of Sleep States," with lectures by Chris-EXHIBITIONS
"Greek Vases." April 29 through August. Gallery of Art, print gallery. 10 a.m. 5 p.m. weekdays. 1-5 p.m. weekends.
"Lithography and the 19th-Century Medical Book," Through May 11. Medical Library Annex, 615 S. Euclid. Open weekdays. 8 a.m. 5 p.m.
"Master of Fine Arts Thesis Exhibition." Through April 29. Gallery of Art, upper gallery. 10 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays. 1-5 p.m. weekends.
"Graeme’s Narrative Works," Through May 31. Olin Library, Special Collections, fifth level. 8 a.m. 5 p.m. weekdays.
PERFORMANCES
Thursday, April 26
6 and 8 p.m. Annual Fashion Show by School of Fine Arts fashion majors. Bixby Hall, Bixby Gallery. Admission is $4 for the 6 p.m. performance and $8 for the 8 p.m. performance.
Friday, April 27
7:30 p.m. Hillel Foundation Lecture, "Purification in Islam," Ebrahim Tabory, Israeli sozialgel. Hillel House, 6500 Forsyth.
Sunday, April 29
7:30 p.m. WU Madrigal Singers Concert with Orland Johnson, directing. Graham Chapel.
Tuesday, May 1
8 p.m. WU Chamber Groups. TicToc Rehearsal Hall.
Wednesday, May 2
5:15 p.m. WU Choir Concert, directed by David Cameron. Graham Chapel.
8:30 p.m. Dept. of Music Electronic Music Concert with Rich O’Donnell, directing. TicToc Rehearsal Hall.
FILMS
Thursday, April 26
7 and 9:45 p.m. WU Filmboard Series, "The Tin Drum." $2. Brown Hall Aud.
Friday, April 27
7:30 and 9:30 p.m. WU Filmseries, "Eveemische Werk," the joys of a W2, $2. Brown Hall Aud. (Also Sat., May 5 and 9 p.m., and Sun., May 6. 7 p.m. Brown.)
Sunday, April 29
7:30 p.m. Performing Arts Area presents "The Cauldron." (Also April 27 and 28 at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.) Drama Studio, Mallinckrodt Center. Admission is $2. For more info., call 889-5658.
8 p.m. Thyrus and Student Union Programming Board present "Everything Dances," a student dance concert. (Also Fri., April 27, Sat., April 28, and Sun., April 29, same time.) Dance Studio, Mallinckrodt Center. Admission is $1 at the door.
Friday, April 27
8 p.m. Edison Theatre presents "The Maser Wrote Jazz II," a concert featuring pianists Leo Smit and Sevene Radecke with WU Wind Ensemble. Pianists directed by Dan Progamo, general admission $6. WU faculty, staff and students $5. WU students $4. For more info., call Edison Theatre box office at 889-6645.
Student art exhibited at Laclede’s Landing
WU’s School of Fine Arts will present its first annual Master of Fine Arts Candidates Art Exhibition from May 1 to 12 at Laclede’s Landing on the first floor of the Bi-State Building.
"First St." Works include painting, sculpture, printmaking, multimedia, photography and graphic communications. The artists are: David Adams, David Cook, Sergey Davidov, Greg Edmondson, Elisa Hicks, John Hilgert, Suellen Johnson, Wendy Katz, Bing Nho, Michael Rosenfeld, Lesa Unterbrink, Nancy Scheinin-Wheeler, Kevin Winters and Steve Wolfe.
"For Something Completely Different." $1.50. Brown Hall Aud. (Also Sat., May 5, midnight, and Sun., May 6, 9 p.m. Brown.)
Calendar Deadline
The deadline to submit items for the May 10-19 calendar of the Washington University Record is April 26. Items must be typed and the state time, date, place, nature of event, sponor and admission cost. Incomplete items will not be printed. If available, include speaker’s name and identification and the title of the event; also include your name and telephone number. Address items to King McElroy, calendar editor, Box 1142.
Sports
Friday, April 27
3 p.m. Men’s Tennis, WU vs. Sangamon State Division II.
3 p.m. Baseball, WU vs. DePauw U. Kelly Baseball Field.
Saturday, April 28
1 p.m. Baseball, WU vs. DePauw U. (Doubleheader) Kelly Baseball Field.
Thursday, May 3
2 p.m. Baseball, WU vs. UML. Kelly Baseball Field.
Friday, May 4
2 p.m. Baseball, WU vs. Harris Stowe College. Kelly Baseball Field.
WU’s School of Fine Arts will present its first annual Master of Fine Arts Candidates Art Exhibition from May 1 to 12 at Laclede’s Landing on the first floor of the Bi-State Building.
"For Something Completely Different." $1.50. Brown Hall Aud. (Also Sat., May 5, midnight, and Sun., May 6, 9 p.m. Brown.)