The University will present distinguished alumni awards "for outstanding professional achievement, contributions in areas of public service, exceptional service to WU, or all three," to Jerome F. Brash, president of Brash Manufacturing Co. Inc. and Marcraft Inc.; Paula J. Clayton, M.D., professor and head of the department of psychiatry, University of Minnesota; E. Thomas Coleman, member of Congress, 6th District, Missouri; Lawrence P. Klamon, president and chief operating officer, Faqua Industries Inc.; A. Wellborne Moore, retired vice president personnel and office administration, Ralston Purina Co.; and Judy F. Schnitzer, real estate broker.

Brash has had a continuous relationship with WU for more than 40 years. After receiving his bachelor of science degree in 1944, he served two years as an officer in the U.S. Navy. He returned to the University in 1946 for his master's in chemical engineering, awarded in 1947. For 20 years, he taught math in University College, while operating his family manufacturing firm. He has been a member of the Engineering Scholarship Committee since 1976 and chairman from 1978 to 1981. He has established two scholarships — the Norvell C. Brash Memorial Scholarship and the David E. Gets Memorial Scholarship. He has been a member of the Engineering Advisory Council Board of Governors and its Executive Committee and is currently annual programs chairman of the ALLIANCE FOR WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY.

When she became professor and head of the department of psychiatry at the University of Minnesota Medical School five years ago, Clayton was the first woman to head a department at the school. She had already established a national reputation in teaching, research and clinical practice during more than 15 years of association with the WU Medical Center and affiliated hospitals. A graduate of the University of Michigan, she received her medical degree from WU's School of Medicine in 1960. She was, successively, assistant resident and chief resident at Barnes and Renard hospitals. She was named instructor in psychiatry at the School of Medicine in 1965, achieving the rank of professor of psychiatry in 1974. She continued her association with Barnes and Renard, becoming director of the Psychiatric Inpatient Service in 1975.

WU will observe its 132nd Founders Day with "An Evening With Mark Twain" Saturday, Oct. 12, in the King Louie IX Ballroom of the Omni International Hotel at St. Louis Union Station.

Actor William McLinn will recreate Mark Twain at the celebration, which honors distinguished WU graduates and outstanding faculty. A former Congressional staff member and seminarian, McLinn began performing as Mark Twain in 1975. In the intervening years, he has given more performances of Twain than all other impersonators, with the exception of Hal Holbrook, combined. Every word in his performance is Twain's, drawn from his writings and speeches.

This year marks both WU's 132nd anniversary and the beginning of the 1985-86 sesquicentennial of Mark Twain's birth. It is also the 100th anniversary of Twain's celebrated American lecture tour.

Founders Day is sponsored by the WU Alumni Association. The event begins at 6 p.m. with cocktails, followed by dinner, the program and dancing.

Tickets are $25 a person. Reservations must be received by Friday, Oct. 4. For more information, call 889-5122.
Alumni endow Hughes fund

Members of the WU alumni successfully completed a drive to endow the Hughes Fellowship Fund in honor of the late Arthur Hughes, a member of the physics department who died in 1978. The announcement was made by Chancellor William H. Danforth. He succeeded the late Arthur H. Compton, who was later named a life member of the Washington University faculty, who was internationally recognized for his contributions to science.

Hughes has been a long-time supporter of WU and an active participant in many University programs. He has contributed to the endowment of the Eliot Society, a member of the Capital Resources Committee for Arts and Sciences, a supporter of the Alliance for Washington University, a $300 million fund-raising campaign. He holds a doctorate in nuclear physics from WU and was an outstanding supporter of WU and an active participant in many University programs.

Konnerke is president of the Konnerke Development Corp. and chairman of the University's Alumni Board of Governors.

Konnerke has been a long-time supporter of WU and an active participant in many University programs. He is a member of the Eliot Society, a member of the Capital Resources Committee for Arts and Sciences, and a supporter of the Alliance for Washington University. He is a life member of the Eliot Society, a member of the Capital Resources Committee for Arts and Sciences, an active participant in many University programs.

Konnerke was a former student of Hughes, and Hughes became associated with WU in 1923 as Wayman Crow Professor and chairman of the physics department. He rounded out his 30-year tenure as chairman, Hughes developed a strong program of research in cooperation with the School of Medicine. He also planned construction of the WU cyclotron, which was later instrumental in developing the atomic bomb at the Manhattan Project.

The Acting Company opens fall season

The Acting Company will open the 1986-87 season at Edison Theatre at 8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 5, with "Orchards: A Chekhov Evening" (A Mid-America Arts Alliance Production). The Arthur Haing, in directing Chekhov's works, has a theory of the relationships between life and art. Using a dike quartet spectrograph, Hughes was the first to verify Einstein's theory. Looking on, from left to right, are Wilfred R. Konnerke, a former student of Hughes, and Hughes fellows Joe Haier and Chadd Oliger.

"After all, Homecoming is a time to let loose and celebrate!"

"Celebrate it!"

That's exactly what WU students plan to do during this year's Homecoming festivities. They'll party, participate in pizza-eating contests, attend school-spirited floats and just generally have a good time. "After all," says senior Maggie Kalkowski, who heads the steering committee for the event, "Homecoming is a time to let loose and celebrate!"

"The evening will begin at 7 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 5, with the annual Homecoming parade in the parking lot on Francis Field.

Lou Brock, a 1985 inductee into the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum, will be grand marshal of the Homecoming parade at 3:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 5, starting at Forsyth and Big Bend.

Brock holds the career record of 938 stolen bases, and the National League single-season stolen base record of 118. He received an honorary doctor of humanities degree from the University in 1980.

For the first time, the gala occasion will feature a Homecoming concert, UB 40, a 10-member internationally known band from England, will perform at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 5, in the University's new athletics complex. The band plays reggae music. Their current record is a remake of the Sonny and Cher tune "I Got You Babe." Performing Chrisice Hynde, lead singer of the rock group The Pretenders. A band called The Unouchables will open the concert.

All seating for the concert is reserved. Tickets are $12.50 for general public and $8.50 for WU students, faculty and staff. Tickets may be purchased at the Edison Theatre box office; West End Wax, $80 N. Euclid Ave.; or by calling the Dial-it Ticket agency at 421-1400.

Zip Rzeppa, sports director at television station KTVI, will master ceremonies for the Bandsompep rally at 7:30 p.m., Friday, Oct. 4, in the South 40 swamp. Other highlights of the evening include a parade at 3:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 5. The parade of floats from more than 50 student and community organizations will start at Forsyth and Big Bend, proceed north on Big Behe Colorado, under a banner to Skinker, south on Skinker to Forsyth and then west on Forsyth to the Monimoto building parking lot.

A tailgate party will begin at 5 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 5, in the parking lot of Francis Field. Sky divers from the Archway Parachute Center in Sparta, III., will perform and bring down the game ball from the sky.

Mae Wheeler's Jazz Band also will perform at approximately 5:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 5, in the South 40 swamp. Mae Wheeler's Jazz Band also will perform. Below is the complete Homecoming schedule:

Wednesday, Oct. 2 — Float Night (ice cream, that is) at the University Center for Fat’s Down Under. Members of the Homecoming circulating committee will serve as waiters and waitresses for the ice cream lovers. The fun starts at 10 p.m.

Thursday, Oct. 3 — UB 40 concert at 8 p.m. in the new athletic complex. The Unouchables will open the concert. After the concert, there will be a "UB at the Rat" night, complete with deejay, from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. at the Unibeach.

Friday, Oct. 4 — Pizza-eating contest from noon to 1 p.m. at Bowls Plaza. The group will rally, emceed by Zip Rzeppa, from 7:30 to 8:50 p.m. at the swamp. Float-building party — Saturday, Oct. 5, in the South 40 area and along Fraternity Row.

Saturday, Oct. 5 — Lineup for parade participants begins at 2:45 p.m. at WU center. Parade from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. at Forsyth and Big Bend. Tailgate party from 5 to 7 p.m. in parking lot outside Francis Field. The sky divers will perform at approximately 5:30 p.m. Football game between Battling Bees and Colorado College Tigers will be at 7 p.m. at Francis Field. Fireworks at Francis Field will follow the game.

Celebration Bash from 9:30 to 1 a.m. at the Gargoyles Coffeeshop. Capney, a local rock and roll band, will perform.

Eagleton dinner to help create professorship

A dinner in honor of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton's three terms in the U.S. Senate will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 3, in the Khorasan Room of the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel.

The Committee to Establish the Thomas F. Eagle Ace Endowment Fund is sponsoring the event. Proceeds from the dinner will help create an endowed professorship at WU, where Eagleton served as University Professor of Public Affairs in 1986, following completion of his third term in the Senate.

Tickets are available at $300 a plate by calling Kathy Loeb, of Fleishman Hillard, at 982-1700.
Peter P. Gaspar, professor of chemistry, is the 1986 winner of the American Chemical Society's Frederic Stanley Kipping Award in Organosilicon Chemistry. The $3,000 award and certificate, sponsored by Dow Corning Corp., will be presented at the society's 191st national meeting next month in New York City. Gaspar, the 20th recipient of the honor, is only the ninth American to receive it. Gaspar is being honored for investigatation of chemical reactions of short-lived, silicon-containing species. This work has led to the discovery of new kinds of molecules and new ways to make organosilicon compounds.

Duck O. Kim, Ph.D., associate professor of cell biology and physiology, has been awarded a five-year research grant from the National Institute of Neurological and Communicative Disorders and Stroke, for his research titled "Acetylcholine Receptors in the Brain." The grant represents the fourth term as president of WU's Bryan, Cave, McPheeters and Hagner, a law firm.

The Juvenile Justice Planning and Control of Illinois, Volume 20, was published in 1985. The 1985 supplement to the second edition of this book was recently published. The book provides a comprehensive overview of the juvenile justice system in Illinois and includes case studies and statistical data. The supplement updates the information presented in the previous edition to reflect the most recent developments in the field.

Activism Among Right-Wing Women: A Life of Dilemmas, by Mary Zoren, is a collection of essays that explore the experiences of women who are politically active on the right. The book examines the challenges these women face and the strategies they use to overcome them. It also includes interviews with prominent right-wing activists who share their insights on the movement.

Robert McNamara, former secretary of defense, will be honored with the 1976-1985 award for distinguished contributions to the field of energy. McNamara is recognized for his efforts in promoting energy conservation and efficiency. The award is presented by the American Council of Engineering Cos., the American Society of Civil Engineers, and the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Nemerov, Gass, Elkin profiled on air

Four WU faculty, to be announced later, will be honored with the University's Distinguished Faculty Award.

For "Morning Edition," "Elin will read his essay, "Why I Live Where I Live," which was published in the November 1980 issue of Esquire."

Among her fellow California alumni. A 1967 graduate in romance languages from the College of Arts and Sciences, she taught elementary school for one year in Los Angeles before enrolling at UCLA, where she earned a Master of Library Science degree. Active in alumni programs for many years, she served as the Los Angeles Phonathon chairperson from 1974 to 1981, and was chairperson of the Los Angeles Council City from 1975 to 1980. From 1981 until the present, she also has been co-chairperson for the Alumni-Parents Admissions Program in Los Angeles, helping prospective students in Southern California learn more about WU.

Four WU faculty, to be announced later, will be honored with the University's Distinguished Faculty Award.

Nemerov, Gass, Elkin profiled on air

WU professors and authors Howard Nemerov, William Greenleaf Eliot, and Stanley Elkin will be featured in a series of literary profiles running Wednesdays at 9:30 p.m. on KMVU (90.7 FM). The interviewer is producer Lorin Cuoco.

Elin also will be presented on National Public Radio's "Morning Edition," which will include continuous spot reports Sept. 25-27 from St. Louis. "Morning Edition" airs from 5 to 9 a.m. on KMVU.

Additions to Fall Honors Dean's List

The following College of Arts and Sciences students should have been included in the Fall Honors program: Eric Christian Nordby, Elaine Marie Nordine, Michael Robert Kueppers, Alphonse Grace Orchard, Stacey Ann Otte, Laura J. Ouadda, Mark David Pagel, and Jennifer Pass. Robert Matthew Patrick, Janice Marie Paul, John Joseph Pawlowski, Kimberly Kae Powlishta and Sonya Lee Wu.
