10-31-1985

Washington University Record, October 31, 1985

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.wustl.edu/record

Recommended Citation

http://digitalcommons.wustl.edu/record/354

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Washington University Publications at Digital Commons@Becker. It has been accepted for inclusion in Washington University Record by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Becker. For more information, please contact engeszer@wustl.edu.
Three-day celebration

Cosell will deliver address at WU Athletic Complex dedication

Howard Cosell, ABC-TV sports commentator, will be the keynote speaker at the WU Athletic Complex dedication ceremonies at 5:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 22, in the Field House.

Cosell will deliver his address for the dedication of the University's new $13-million athletic complex.

The ceremony, part of a three-day celebration for the athletic facilities, is free and open to WU students, faculty, staff and guests.

Following the ceremony, which includes a ribbon cutting, a dedication celebration will be held in Francis Gymnasium from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. Students, faculty and staff will be able to dance to the music of the Bob Kahan Band, as well as enjoy a complimentary dinner.

The first 2,000 students attending the Friday afternoon events will receive "We've Got an Athletic Complex at Washington U" T-shirts and buttons. Copies of Cosell's new book, I Never Played the Game, and athletic equipment will be given as door prizes.

For evening entertainment, two basketball games are scheduled. The first contest pits the WU Alumni against the St. Louis University Alumni at 6 p.m. in the Field House. At 8:05 p.m., the 1985-86 varsity Bears and the St. Louis University Billikens open their basketball season - the first time the two schools have played each other in 15 years. Continued on p. 3.

Freshman enrollment climbs 5.4 percent

WU's 1985-86 freshman enrollment climbed 5.4 percent over the previous year — from 986 to 1,039 students.

Overall enrollments at WU for fall 1985 totaled 10,581 students, including 4,447 undergraduate, 3,808 graduate and professional, 2,131 evening, and 135 certificate and unclassified students. Last year's total enrollment was 10,709, a change of 1.2 percent.

In addition, freshmen student scores in the verbal and mathematical sections of the Scholastic Aptitude Test increased. Average SAT verbal scores were 571, versus 558 for last year; average mathematical scores were 653, versus 624. For those students submitting the American College Testing test results, average scores climbed from 27 to 29, according to Robert M. Hedrick, dean of admissions.

In the five schools with undergraduate programs, the 1,059 freshmen were enrolled as follows: Architecture, 41; Arts & Sciences, 629; Business, 115; Engineering, 200; and Fine Arts, 54. In addition to freshmen, 196 transfer students were enrolled, as compared to 237 in the previous year.

Members of the freshman class also ranked high in their high schools. Forty percent of the new students are from the top 5 percent of their high school graduating classes. In addition, 59 percent are from the top tenth, 77 percent from the top fifth and 97 percent from the top half.

"Considering the national decline in the number of college-bound high school students, we are pleased not only with the increased size of the freshman class, but also with the enhanced quality of the class as indicated by the higher SAT and ACT scores this year," said Hedrick. "We are particularly appreciative of the support efforts put forth by the deans' offices of the undergraduate schools, faculty members, volunteers on the Student Admissions Committee and the admissions staff."
Protestant Student Council aims for more campus exposure

Imagine this: Victoria Moore, a freshman from Eau Claire, Wis., has just completed her first week of classes at WU. She's homesick, afraid and alone. An active member of Messiah Lutheran Church in Eau Claire, she suddenly feels a need for religious guidance and support.

Victoria spent her first three days on campus searching for a Lutheran organization. She was aware of the St. Louis Hillel Foundation and the Newman Center. But nowhere on campus could she find an association for Lutheran students.

The Rev. Alvin H. Horst, Th.D., coordinator of the Lutheran Campus Ministry, believes situations such as the fictional Moore case have occurred too frequently. Now, however, members of the newly formed Protestant Student Council are attempting to remedy the situation.

The Protestant Student Council is composed of students, campus ministers and staff from various Protestant organizations who seek to create greater visibility for the WU Protestant population by sponsoring joint programs that will interest the total University community. In addition, the council hopes to motivate more Protestant students to become part of the organization. Members organized the council this past summer.

In addition to about six students, current members of the council are: the Rev. Donald Armstrong III, of the Episcopal Church of St. Michael and St. George; Gerry Chappeau, a campus minister with Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship; Horst; the Rev. Roger N. Jespersen, director of the Wesley Foundation of Greater St. Louis; and Tom Plog, a campus minister with Christian Student Fellowship. Although about two-thirds of its members are Protestant, Inter-Varsity is open to any student.

Horst admits classifying various religious groups as Protestants can be a "fuzzy" process, he asserts that the traditional Protestant denominations, which are represented by the council, are Episcopalian, Christian, Lutheran, Methodist, Presbyterian, the Disciples of Christ and the United Church of Christ. Christians coming from various backgrounds, however, are encouraged to become part of the groups which comprise the council. Horst says the "council was organized when members of several Protestant organizations discovered they shared a common desire for more exposure on campus."

"We also found out the programs we were sponsoring individually were similar," Horst continues. "We were all doing the same things; bible studies, discussion groups and fellowship events. We were trying to garner observability for our separate organizations.

"By coming together," Horst stresses, "we hope to help Protestant students find a spiritual place at WU." Council members are sponsoring several events this fall designed to carry out the organization's goals. During the last Monday of each month, the group has a brown-bag luncheon titled "Bread and More," in which a speaker addresses a topic of religious interest to the University community.

In November, the council hopes to have a luncheon speaker from a national hunger group called Bread for the World, although final arrangements have not been made. Horst said the group also is looking into the possibility of sponsoring a collection for world hunger. The November event will be titled "Jewish-Christian Dialogue" and will feature speakers from various religious backgrounds.

Meanwhile, the individual Protestant organizations that make up the council continue to sponsor separate activities, such as Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship's Fridays night get-together.

For persons looking for an inter-religious experience, there is CIRCuit, the WU Council for Inter-religious Concerns. CIRCuit is a student group founded in 1967 by the campus ministry and the Campus YMCA/YWCA to promote discussion among students and faculty of various religious backgrounds and to promote interfaith education. The non-student members of the Protestant Student Council also are active in CIRCuit, which was established in 1975.

On Oct. 30, CIRCuit sponsored a two-hour free lecture titled "Conversations on Interfaith Dating and Marriage" at the Campus Y. Among other religious organizations, CIRCuit members recently attended a meeting planning a "Jewish-Christian Dialogue" weekend to be held next semester for WU's Jewish and Christian students. CIRCuit holds weekly business meetings to organize programs and usually sponsors a lecture in the Assembly Series.

The founders of CIRCuit are Helen Davis, director of the Campus Y; James S. Diamond, a WU lecturer in Jewish studies and executive director of the St. Louis Hillel Foundation; and Horst. Carolyn Sanford

Bond between Africans, Afro-Americans topic of festival

Maxine Waters, assemblywoman from the 48th Assembly District in Los Angeles, is the keynote speaker for the Black Arts and Sciences Festival at WU. Waters will address the conference theme, "Africans and African-Americans: The Ties That Bind," at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 7, in Graham Chapel.

She will answer questions during a reception from 4 to 5:30 p.m. Thursday in the Brown Hall lounge.

Waters, a St. Louis native, is the Democratic caucasus chairwoman in the California Assembly, the number-three leadership position. She is the first woman to serve on the leadership team in the California Assembly.

Other activities planned for the Black Arts and Sciences Festival include a "Performing Arts Night" at 7 p.m. Thursday in the drama studio in Mallinckrodt Center. Some of the featured artists include saxophonist Robert Colvin, the WU Black Repertory Theatre's artistic director; and singer Robert Gately, winner of the new talent competition at the recent theater festival in Chicago.

A film will be shown at 6 p.m. Friday, Nov. 8, in room 215, Reba n Hall. The film title will be announced later.
Radio theatre profiles three women in ancient broadcasts

The Holy Roman Repertory Company presents national radio theatre directed by WU artist-in-residence Hollis Huston, Ph.D., opens its 1997-98 season with "The Life and Opinions of Eleanor of Aquitaine" at 8 p.m. Nov. 1, and 2 and 8 p.m. Nov. 2 in the Drama Studio, Mallinckrodt Center.

This season, the third for the national radio theatre, will feature the lives and works of three remarkable women: Eleanor of Aquitaine, Mary Chesnut and Sor Juana Ines de la Cruz. Eleanor of Aquitaine was a 12th-century queen under whose patronage poets and troubadours created the modern idea of romantic love. Chesnut was a diarist in the Confederacy during the Civil War. Sor Juana was a 17th-century nun, poetess and intellectual in Mexico.

The programs, presented on KWMU's three radio broadcasts, will be available on air and on the web at kwmuru.org.

Lecture updates Ithaka excavations

WU archaeologist Sarantis Symeonglou, Ph.D., will present an update on his exploration of the island of Ithaka with "Homer Ithaka: The Results of Two Seasons of Excavations at Aetos." The slide lecture, which is free and open to the public, is at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 6, in Steinberg Auditorium in Steinberg Hall.

Symeonglou, professor of art and archaeology, began his search in summer 1984 for the home of Odysseus, as described in Homer's "Odyssey." Archaeologists had searched unsuccessfully for the Greek hero's home from the early 1800s to 1937. During his first expedition, Symeonglou and his team found the remains of a 400-square-foot Mycenaean settlement (the name for Odysseus' era) halfway up Mount Actos on the island. Past explorations had been conducted either at the top or bottom of the mountain.

The lecture is sponsored by the WU Department of Art and Archaeology and the St. Louis Society of the Archaeological Institute of America. For more information, call 889-5270.

Athletic complex dedication — continued from p. 1

All University students will be admitted free to the varsity game, but must pick up their tickets between 7 and 7:45 p.m. the night of the game at the athletic complex ticket window. A valid WU ID must be presented in order to receive a ticket. Ticket prices for all other fans are $5 for non-reserved lower-level seating and $5 for reserved upper-level seating.

A student party from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. at WoHl Center will conclude the day's events. The affair, "Dedicated to Party — A Toast to the Red Kites," is being sponsored by the South Forty Programming Board. Cosell, the keynote speaker, is one of the world's most recognizable personalities. Proof of Cosell's fame lies in the fact that his style constantthetic is imitated.

In addition to his broadcasting activities, he is also the author of a best-selling book on sports, Cosell by Cosell, and conducted a 13-week series of lecture-seminars at Yale University for a fully accredited course titled "Big Time Sports in Contempo-

The Holy Roman Repertory Company includes (from left): Jeffrey Noonan, dramaturg; Hollis Huston, WU artist in residence in drama, and Agnes Wilcox.
LECTURES
Thursday, Oct. 31
Noon. The Left Forum, "Censorship in the Cultural Life of California," by Horst Moehr, author, in German, at the German Gymnasium. 115 Pacific Ave., between 7th and 8th Sts.

FRIDAY, Nov. 1

5 p.m. Dept. of Music, "Microbial Desulfurization of Coal: A Revolutionary Myth," Burghard Dedner, professor of biology, Tufts University.

6:30 p.m. WU Filmboard Series, "Star Wars," Carl Bender, WU prof. of physics, Lambert Lounge, 4th floor, and 11:30 p.m. WU Filmboard Series, "Barebones Writing." Shepley Dorm, West Gallery, Bixby Hall. 10 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays. For tickets, call 889-5122.

SUNDAY, Nov. 3

MONDAY, Nov. 4
2 p.m. Dept. of Chemical Engineering Seminar, "Molecular Desorption of Coal by the Thermophilic Organism, Sulfolobus Acidocaldarius," Sriraman Karpur, prof. of chemistry, Lehigh U. 100 Cupples II.

4:15 p.m. School of Fine Arts Lecture, "Doing Adhesion to Computing Facilities," Brian Shepley, Free to WU community. To register, call 889-5813.

8 a.m.-10 p.m. Personal Computing Education Center Short Course 002, "Introduction to Computing Facilities." Brian Shepley, Free to WU community. To register, call 889-5813.

8 p.m. University Symphony Orchestra Concert: "The Tale of the Living Dead." (Also Sat., Nov. 2, same time, and Sun., Nov. 3, 9 p.m., Brown.)

SATURDAY, Nov. 3
1:30 p.m. Football, WU vs. Case Western Reserve University. Francis Field.

2 p.m. Skiing, WU vs. Augsburg College. Francis Field.

Saturday, Nov. 3, 5-7 p.m. WU Filmboard Series, "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari & Nosferatu." $2 Brown Hall.

SUNDAY, Nov. 4
7-9 a.m. WU Filmboard Series, "Anchors Aweigh: An Interview with Anthony Quinn." $2 Brown Hall.

Sunday, Nov. 3, 9-11 a.m. Personal Computing Education Center Short Course 205, "Advanced Interactive Computing with CMS." Robert Parks. (Also Nov. 5-7, same time.) Free to WU community. To register, call 889-5813.

5-7 p.m. Learning Center Seminar, "Write Succinctly: Suggestions and Practice in the Living Dead." Shepley Dorm, West Gallery, Bixby Hall. 10 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays.

9-11 a.m. Personal Computing Education Center Short Course 220, "Doing Advanced Interactive Computing with CMS." Robert Parks. (Also Nov. 6, 8, 11 and 13, same time.) Free to WU community. To register, call 889-5813.

6:30-9:30 p.m. Learning Center Seminar, "Writing Efficiently: Suggestions and Practice in Barebones Writing." SHEPHERD DORM, WEST GALLERY, BIXBY HALL.

MUSIC
Thursday, Oct. 31
6:30 p.m. U. of Calif.-Santa Cruz. 311 McMillen.

FILMS
Sunday, Nov. 3

5:10 a.m. Dept. of Physics Seminar, "Symmetry in Space," "Salome," written by Oscar Wilde, at Edison Theatre, Directed by Herbert Metz, WU assoc. prof. of drama. (Also Sat., Nov. 9, 9 a.m., and Sun., Nov. 15, and Sun., Nov. 16, 11 a.m., same time, Edison.) Tickets are $5 to the general public and $4 to WU faculty, staff, and senior citizens. For tickets, call 889-6643.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 6
5-7 p.m. Personal Computing Education Center Short Course 330, "Microcomputing Using Spreadsheet," Pat Taylor, CDPD associate. (Also Nov. 8-13, same time.) Free to WU community. To register, call 889-5813.

SATURDAY, Nov. 2
9 a.m.-10 p.m. WU Parents Weekend. Sponsored by the Office of Student Activities. (Also Sun., Nov. 3, 9 a.m.-5 p.m.) For more info., call 889-5994.

MONDAY, Nov. 4
9:30-11:30 a.m. Personal Computing Education Center Short Course 001, "Introduction to Computing Facilities." Brian Shepley, Free to WU community. To register, call 889-5813.

1:30-3:30 p.m. Personal Computing Education Center Short Course 220, "Doing Advanced Interactive Computing with CMS." Robert Parks. (Also Nov. 6, 8, 11 and 13, same time.) Free to WU community. To register, call 889-5813.

SUNDAY, Nov. 3
6-8 p.m. Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship Meeting, Green Stalls Line, Wool Center.

The Office of Student Activities expects more than 220 families will be on campus for Parents Weekend.

EXHIBITIONS
"Mark Twain Exhibit," featuring manuscripts, letters and first editions of Mark Twain drawn from the library's collection. Through Oct. 31. Oklahoma Library. Special Collections, 5th floor, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays.

Wednesday, Nov. 6
5-7 p.m. Performing Arts Area Presents "The Life and Opinions of Euripides of Aquitaine" in Drama Studio, Mallinckrodt Center. (Also Sat., Nov. 2, at 2 a.m. and 8 p.m. Drama Studio.) This is $5 for evening performances and $3 for the Saturday matinee. For more info., call the Edison Theatre box office at 889-6643.

FRIDAY, Nov. 8
8 p.m. Holy Roman Repertory Company Presents "Aro- nomos Then, Hawaii Now," Hampton Carson, prof. of drama, Lehigh U. 100 Cupples II.

Saturday, Nov. 2
9 a.m.-10 p.m. WU Parents Weekend. Sponsored by the Office of Student Activities. (Also Sun., Nov. 3, 9 a.m.-5 p.m.) For more info., call 889-5994.

7:30 p.m. WU Libraries Bookmark Society Lecture, "How the Hirohite Widows and Other Forgotten Women Unmasked," Kenneth W. Ren- dolf, assistant professor. Women's Bldg. Admission for non-members of the society is $5.

Wednesday, Nov. 6

Tuesday, Nov. 5
4 p.m. Dept. of Chemical Engineering Seminar, "Aromatic Substitution Via Electron-transfer chain Reactions Involving Radicals with Ambident Aromaticity, Ethoxide, and Benzene," Joseph Bennett, prof. of chemistry, 4 U. of Calif.-Santa Cruz. 311 McMillen.

Sports Calendar
The deadline to submit items for the Nov. 21-Dec. 7 calendar of the Washington Universi- ty Record is Nov. 7. Items must be typed and state name, date, time and nature of event, length, and purpose. Admission information and admission cost. Incomplete items will not be printed. If available, include speaker's name and identification and the title of the event, also include your name and telephone number. Address items to King McElroy, calendar editor, Box 1070.