AIDS epidemic topic of lecture, panel discussion

June E. Osborn, M.D., dean of the School of Public Health at the University of Michigan, will discuss "The AIDS Epidemic: The Public Health Issue of the 80s," at 11 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 28, in Graham Chapel.

Her talk, which is part of the Assembly Series, is co-sponsored by the Woman’s Club of Washington University and is free and open to the public.

The lecture will keynote an AIDS symposium to be held from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Women’s Building lounge. A panel discussion will feature Osborn; William Campbell, M.D., an instructor in clinical medicine at the medical school and a private physician who sub-specializes in infectious diseases; J. Robert Meyers, associate director of Masters & Johnson Institute, who will address changing lifestyles; and Carl Wellman, Ph.D., a professor of philosophy at the University, who will speak on ethical dilemmas.

Osborn is a professor of epidemiology at the School of Public Health and a professor of pediatrics and communicable diseases at the University of Michigan medical school. She has served on the health care and public health panel of the National Academy of Sciences/Institute of Medicine Committee to Assess National Strategies for AIDS Research and Health Care.

Continued on p. 3

Telephone directory name changes back to 1920 original — Ternion

The Washington University phone directory that we all know as Chimes has a new name. It’s now called Ternion, according to Ann Dammkoehler, president of Chimes, the junior women’s honorary that produces the campus phone book. Unlike the directory, the honorary has not changed its name. The new Ternion is scheduled to arrive on campus this month.

"We looked at the name change from a historical point of view," says Dammkoehler, an English major from Kirkwood. She says Ternion was the original name of the phone book when it first came out in 1920. The honorary also was called Ternion, which means a set or group of three. It refers to three parts — faculty, students and staff.

Dammkoehler says the group decided on the name change "to distinguish Chimes (the honorary) from the phone book. We want to be known as Chimes, the junior women’s honorary, not the phone book. Most people think the phone book is all we do, but it isn’t."

"We co-sponsor an Assembly Series lecture in the spring and we hope to have a three-day symposium based on the lecture. We also do community projects — our purpose is to bring campus and city organizations together. As one of our community projects, for example, we’re bringing a group of 75 children from the inner city to Homecoming." She says the youths will march in the parade and attend the football game. Marny Muir, Ph.D., is the group’s adviser.

The reason for the name change and the dictionary definitions of Ternion are displayed on the directory’s cover.

134th anniversary

Four faculty, Lopata to be honored at Founders Day

ABC News anchor Ted Koppel will be the principal speaker at Washington University’s 134th anniversary Founders Day Banquet Saturday, Nov. 14, at the Adam’s Mark Hotel.

Founders Day, sponsored by the Washington University Association, commemorates the founding of the University in 1853.

Four Distinguished Faculty Awards will be presented at the banquet “. . . for outstanding commitment to teaching and dedication to the intellectual and personal growth of students.” The faculty to be honored are: Jerome R. Cox Jr., S.C.D., professor and chair of the Department of Computer Science; Tamie Kamiyama, Ph.D., associate professor of Japanese; William B. Kohn, professor of art; and Philip Needleman, Ph.D., Alumni Professor and head of the Department of Pharmacology of the School of Medicine.

The University also will honor civic leader Stanley L. Lopata with its Alliance Appreciation Award. The award is given to individuals who, by commitment and generosity, exemplify the alliance between the University and its community. Lopata, who received his degree from the College of Arts and Sciences in 1935, is founder of the Car-
Liederabend

German song recital to feature composer Hugo Wolf's music

Washington University will present its annual Liederabend (German song recital) at 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 1, in Steinberg Auditorium.

The Liederabend program will include Wolf's compositions "Schlafendes Jesuskind," "Eleni" and "Nimmersatte Liebe." Sponsored by Washington's Department of Music and Department of Germanic Languages and Literatures, and the Goethe Institute, the Liederabend is free and open to the public.

For more information on the recital, call 889-5581.

New York architect to discuss work

New York architect Diana Agrest will speak on her recent works in the School of Architecture's Monday Night Lecture Series at 8 p.m. Monday, Oct. 26, in Steinberg Hall auditorium.

Sponsored by the School of Architecture and Student Union, the lecture is free and open to the public.

Agrest, a partner in the firm of Agost and Gandelbosch in New York, also is a professor of architecture at the Cooper Union for the Advancement of Science and Arts. Agrest has been involved in the design and development of projects ranging from single-family houses and interiors to urban buildings in the United States and abroad.

Peter Geist memorial service set

A memorial service for Peter Geist III, retired professor of graphic design at the School of Fine Arts and former director of the Washington University Magazine, will be held at 4 p.m. Monday, Oct. 26, in Graham Chapel.

Mr. Geist, the 1990s.

Peter Geist memorial service set

A memorial service for Peter Geist III, retired professor of graphic design at the School of Fine Arts and former director of the Washington University Magazine, will be held at 4 p.m. Monday, Oct. 26, in Graham Chapel.

Mr. Geist, a deceased professor, was renowned for his contributions to the field of graphic design and his dedication to the advancement of the arts. His work has been widely recognized and has contributed significantly to the development of the field. His influence continues to be felt through his legacy and the work of those who were inspired by him.
Susan Frelitch Appleton, J.D., professor of law, spoke at a conference on “Women and the Constitution,” held at the University of Iowa on Sept. 19 in honor of the bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution. Her presentation first traced the development of the constitutional right to privacy and then examined the opinions of Justice O’Connor in recent abortion decisions of the Supreme Court, in an effort to determine O’Connor’s increasingly important position in such cases after the departure of Justice Powell.

Yvonne Captain-Hidalgo, Ph.D., assistant professor of romance languages, received a fellowship for this academic year to further her research in Spanish-American literature. The fellowship is granted by the William Monroe Trotter Institute, University of Massachusetts.

Yingxi Fu, a second-year student in the law school, and Okon E. Atah, a graduate student in biological science, participated in the Foreign Students Council’s International Leadership Workshop, held Oct. 17-24 in Washington, D.C. They were among 20 foreign graduate students nominated by universities throughout the United States to participate in the program. The topic of the workshop was “U.S. Government and the Constitution.” The workshop is made possible by a grant from the United States Information Agency. Fu is from the People’s Republic of China and Atah is from Nigeria.

Daniel R. Mandelker, J.S.D.,

Howard A. Stamper Professor of Law, will travel to Brazil and Yugoslavia this fall to consult with national ministers and urban institutes on land development problems. The trip is sponsored by the U.S. Information Agency. Two articles written by Mandelker were cited by Justice Stevens of the U.S. Supreme Court in his dissent last spring in a land use case.

Van McElwee, in the School of Fine Arts and the Performing Arts Department, has received a $4,175 grant from Legacy Productions to produce an experimental videotape. Legacy is funded by the Missouri Arts Council and the St. Louis Regional Arts Commission.

McElwee’s film, “Inside,” was shown in July 1987 at the New York City Film and Video Festival.

Patricia A. Parsons, D.M.D., chairperson of pediatric dentistry, has been honored with Ishiyaku Euroamer-

Katherine M. Ponte, administrative assistant in the Treasurer’s Office, was invited to attend the Frankfurt International Book Fair, held Oct. 7-12, in Frankfurt am Main, West Germany, as an aide to the staff of Ishiyaku EuroAmerica Inc. Publishers. The Frankfurt Book Fair, an annual event, is the world’s largest activity in book publishing. More than 5,000 publishers from all over the world participate in conferences dealing with such related problems as book production techniques, illiteracy, copyright, library developments, book piracy and book availability in the World countries and censorship.

William Hayden Smith, Ph.D., professor of chemistry and earth and planetary sciences, has been selected as a Senior National Research Council Fellow. Smith, in collaboration with K. Haiman, a Washington University doctoral graduate, will develop global models for the atmosphere of Jupiter using data from the Voyager mission, and Smith’s observations obtained from Mauna Kea Observatory (Hawaii). The information will be processed and integrated at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory’s image proc-cessing facility developed for the Galileo mission to Jupiter.

Have you done something noteworthy?

Have you: Presented a paper? Won an award? Been named to a committee or elected an officer of a professional organization?

The Washington University Record will help spread the good news. Contributions regarding faculty and staff scholarly or professional activities are gladly accepted and encouraged. Send a brief note with your full name, highest earned degree, current title and department along with a description of your noteworthy activity to Notables, Campus Box 1070. Please include a phone number.

Performing arts major Winston Bull portrays Harry, a man who “hugs his loneliness to death” in English playwright Steven Berkoff’s one-act play, “Harry’s Christmas.” The play will be presented with Ken Jenkins’ one-act monologue “Chance” at 8 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 23-25, and Oct. 30-Nov. 1, in the Drama Studio in the Mallinckrodt Center.

Winston Bull and Tom Jaeger, both performing arts majors at Washington University, will present two one-act plays at 8 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 23-25, and Oct. 30-Nov. 1, in the Drama Studio in the Mal-

linckrodt Center.

Jaeger will direct Bull in English playwright Steven Berkoff’s soliloquy “Harry’s Christmas,” the tragedy of a “desperately sodden and lonely man” who believes he is the victim of a cosmic conspiracy.

Bull will direct Jaeger in American playwright Ken Jenkins’ monologue “Chuck,” a humorous piece concerning the dangers of enlightenment and frog breeding.

Foun
ders Day — continued from p. 1

whose many honors include election to the Institute of the Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences and the rank of fellow in the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers.

Tamie Kamiyama is being recognized for her success in teaching the Japanese language by employing an approach similar to the “Dartmouth method” long before the procedure was popular in this country. She also serves as an interpreter for Japanese-speaking visitors to St. Louis and the central planner of an annual conference on Japan for area high school teachers.

William Kohn, a successful artist, as well as a successful teacher of art, has achieved international success by both one-man and group exhibitions. His art is housed in permanent collections in St. Louis, Chicago, Minnesota, Nova Scotia and other collections around the country. Philip Needleman, previously selected four times by his students as “Preclinical Teacher of the Year,” also was honored by the Washington University Medical Center Alumni Association as being the University’s group’s first endowed professorship. Recently, his achievements in original research resulted in his selection to the National Academy of Sciences, one of the scientific community’s most prestigious honors.

Lectures

Thursday, Oct. 22

12:30-2 p.m. Gallery Talk with Gerald D. Botas, director of the Gallery of Art, discussing "Parting the Veil," an exhibit of art at the Alvey A. Steenburgh Gallery.

4 p.m. Department of Chemistry Seminar, "Metabolic Recognition in Aquatic and Organ Systems," Francois Diederich, professor of chemistry, J. E. Osse, director of the graduate program, Brown Hall Lounge.

Friday, Oct. 23

10 a.m. Admission Examination for Doctoral Degree, "An Investigation of Exposure as a Necessary Condition for Treating Prosta," Jerri S. 200 Tucker St.

10 a.m. School of Architecture Lecture Series: State with Annex, New York architect. Steinberg Aud.

Tuesday, Oct. 27

6 p.m. School of Architecture Lecture Series with State with Annex. New York architect. Steinberg Aud.

Wednesday, Oct. 28

5:30 p.m. Dept. of Mathematics Analysis Seminar, "The Dirichlet Operator on the Boundary of Smoothly Pseudocovariant Domains in n > 1," Marco Peloso. WU graduate student in mathematics. 199 Cupples Millstone Pool.

8 p.m. Dept. of Germanic Languages and Literatures Lecture Series, "The Poet". Bernd Wra, professor of German. Achen Foundation Tech. L 529 Redick Hall.

Thursday, Oct. 29

4 p.m. Dept. of Chemical Engineering Seminar, "Pattern of Biological Involvements," Paul Stropp, acting dean of arts. Missouri Co. 101 Lopata.

Friday, Oct. 30

4 p.m. Dept. of Psychology Colloquium, "Double Bookkeeping Attention in Schizophrenia," Susan Sracek, Dept. of Psychology, Texas Tech U. 112 Eads.

4 p.m. Central Institute for the Deaf (CID) Research Seminar, "Language Processing: An Interdisciplinary Approach," Arland Jongsma and Joan A. Sertori. postdoctoral research scientist. CID, Second Floor audi; CID Clinics and Research Bldg., 200 Tucker St.

4 p.m. Dept. of Mathematics Colloquium, "Discrete Time Quantum Mechanics," Carl Bender. WU professor of physics. 199 Cupples Millstone Pool.

Friday, Oct. 31

4 p.m. Dept. of Music Lecture Series, "Double Trigonometric Ambiguity in Brahms and Henry James," Roland Jordan. professor of music, and Emma Kafelous. WU Lecturer in comparative literature. Bellow 8B.

Performances

Friday, Oct. 23

8 p.m. Edison Theatre Presents Sankai Juku (Japanese butch dance company). (Also Sat., Oct. 31 and Mon., Nov. 2.) Admission is $15 for the general public, $10 for senior citizens and WU faculty and staff, and $7 for students. For ticket info., call 889-6543.

8 p.m. Thyrus and Student Union Present "Harry's Christmas" and "Chug" at Drama Center. Admission is 90 cents for non-members. For more info., call 889-4523.

Saturday, Oct. 24

11 a.m. Dept. of Music Lecture Class, featuring "I'm in the Mood for Love." A. K. Grigg, professor of music. 199 Cupples Millstone Pool.

7 p.m. Men's and Women's Swimming and Diving, WU vs. Northeastern State U. Michigan Pool.

Saturday, Oct. 31

11 a.m. Men's and Women's Cross-Country Meet, WU vs. Wash. U. Brown Millstone Pool.

11 a.m. Men's and Women's Swimming and Diving, WU Relays. Millstone Pool.

1:30 p.m. Soccer, WU vs. Emory U. Francis Field.

Exhibitions

Monday, Oct. 25

9 a.m. Homecoming Tailgate Party in the parking lot of the Athletic Complex.

9 p.m. Homecoming Dance at The Gargoyle and The Rat, a Midwest rock band. For more info., call 889-6543.

Sunday, Oct. 31

6-7:15 p.m. Psychological Service Center Fall Session Workshop, "Practical Parenting," how to get your kids to perform as expected. 115 Eads. Cost is $50. To register, call 889-5581.

Wednesday, Oct. 28

12:30-2 p.m. Psychological Service Center Fall Session Workshop, "Practical Parenting," how to get your kids to perform as expected. 115 Eads. Cost is $50. To register, call 889-5581.

Thursday, Oct. 29

6:30-8:30 p.m. "Women in Unfulfilling Relationships," an ongoing weekly group for women who are dissatisfied with their relationships with significant others. Sponsored by the Psychological Service Center. 115 Eads. Cost is $50 a month. To register, call 889-5581.

Wednesday, Oct. 28

12:30-2 p.m. Psychological Service Center Fall Session Workshop, "Practical Parenting," how to get your kids to perform as expected. 115 Eads. Cost is $50. To register, call 889-5581.

Calendar Deadline

The deadline to submit items for the Nov. 12-21 calendar of the University Record is Oct. 29. Items must be received by the deadline and will not be printed. If available, include speaker's name and title, specific dates and times of the event; also include your name and telephone number. Address items to King McLennan, calenda editor, 6-7097.