Making America better: Jim Leonard Jr.

East St. Louis mayor, Chilean author to give lectures next week Medieval scholar Peter Brown, East St. Louis Mayor Gordon Bush, and Chilean author Jose Donoso will give lectures at the University next week. The lectures, sponsored by the Assembly Series, are free and open to the public.

Brown, a professor of History at Princeton University, will deliver the Edward W. Weiten Lecture in Religious Studies at 11 a.m. Oct. 2 in Graham Chapel. The lecture is titled "Philosophers, Bishops, and Monks: Power and Persuasion in the Later Roman Empire.

Brown, a world authority on the late Roman and early medieval world, is the author of several books, including his best-selling biography Augustinus (Harvard, 1967). His books The Body and Society: Men, Women and Sexual Remuneration in Early Christianity (1982) received both the Ralph Waldo Emerson Award in 1989 and the John E. Austin Award of the American Academy and Institute of Arts and Letters in 1990.

A native of East St. Louis, Brown is an expert in Latin literature and has received many honors for his academic work. He was a Fellow of both the Royal Historical Society in London and the British Academy, as well as the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Brown recently received the Simon D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation Award in 1982 and a Simon Guggenheim Fellowship in 1989.

The lecture is co-sponsored by CIBCoL, the Religious Studies Program and the Student Union.

Gordon Bush will speak on "In Search of Urban Utopias" at noon Oct. 3 in the Women's Building Lounge.

The lecture keynotes a weeklong series of events sponsored by the University's Kappa Sigma Fraternity and Delta Gamma Sorority to benefit St. Louis' A World of Difference project. A World of Difference is a national program aimed at reducing prejudice and stereotyping of any form, including racial, ethnic and religious diversity and teaching educators in the area.

Bush, who has a master's degree in urban planning, took office last May as a part-time East St. Louis resident. Bush is chairman of the East St. Louis Youth Development Association, a board member emeritus of the East St. Louis Boys Club and a member of the U.S. Army Reserve.

Bush served from 1971-75 as an East St. Louis city commissioner and was city treasurer from 1975-79. He also has worked as an urban planner for the East St. Louis Model Cities Program.

The lecture is co-sponsored by the African and Afro-American Studies Program, Kappa Sigma Fraternity and Delta Gamma Sorority.

Jose Donoso, considered one of the finest Latin American authors of the 20th century, will participate in a dialogue at 4:30 p.m. Oct. 3 in the May Audion Lounge.

He will discuss his work with Comissioned play will celebrate medical school centennial

Making America better: Jim Leonard Jr.

E Youngdahl Lecture Sept 17 in the Field House. "Each generation has a challenge to answer the call of the day, to make American better," he said. Following opportunity for an exciting artistic premiere.

collaboration with the Performing Arts anniversary, the medical school, in Division's, "received its New York

Festival National Playwriting Award.

protege of playwright and fellow affiliation, he also has become a production.

myself to work with such a gifted students," said Warrick, a native of them for a long time, and every-levels. This experience will remain students a remarkable insight into the "Gray's Anatomy" has grown and matured

the month-long rehearsal process.

Leonard created much of the work, the ending, after having met and each of the cast members.

While Jim was here we really felt senior Shannon Warrick, who plays

Becky's, young widow. "Jim would be careful not to bring it too something they can refer to. I am the first Becky there ever was. That's exciting."

"Gray's Anatomy" is set in a small

Midwestern town at the turn of the century. The town has almost everything it needs — a carpenter, a banker, a tavern-keeper and a preacher. But when a mysterious fever develops, the people realize the need for a doctor.

Then one day, Dr. Galen Gray makes a very dramatic entrance into the small town during a tornado. He gradually earns the people's respect and the townsfolk grow to trust and depend on the doctor to cure, or at least diagnose, their ills. The climax revolves .around the arrival of a deadly illness

the doctor can't cure. The townspeople blame the doctor for the plague and begin to persecute him.

"In the end, this play is not so much about doctors as it is about life death," says Daniel B. Shea, Ph.D.,

professor of English, who plays Cash

Beeman, the town's banker and mayor.

The play features a very experienced cast, says Shea. Many have worked together before. In addition to Shea and Warrick, other cast members are: Robert Henke, Ph.D., assistant professor of performing arts, who plays

Gray; classmates Michael Holmes, who plays the preacher-senior Nicola

Wilenksy, who plays the preacher's

Continued on p. 2
United Way campaign begins this month

September once again marks the beginning of the annual Greater St. Louis United Way campaign. And, as in previous years, Washington University is participating in the fund drive. "Unusual support that helps prevent child abuse, to which drugs fight drug and alcohol abuse among young people, to the alleviation of hunger and homelessness — gifts to the United Way do make a difference," said Chancellor William H. Danforth. "Any amount (that you can contribute) is precious to literally thousands of your fellow citizens of this community." The Greater St. Louis United Way supports more than 130 health and human service organizations in a 10-county area. This year's campaign goal is to raise $5 million. The University's goal is $280,000, a six percent increase over last year's goal.

By combining more than 130 organizations under one annual drive, time, effort and administrative costs are reduced. United Way charities spend less than 10 cents per dollar raised on overhead costs. Because of the strong community approach to human problems, United Way-sponsored organizations are able to serve one in three people in the greater St. Louis area. United Way funds provide food and shelter to those in need, family counseling, support services to disabled people, support and refuge for women who have been abused, counseling and support for people with AIDS and their families, and thousands of educational and entrepreneurial programs for youth and families.

"The United Way has a long history in St. Louis. The concept of a university organization serving the needs of numerous charities began in 1887. In 1922, St. Louisans adopted this idea and formed the United Community Chest. The United Way was formed in 1944 and the Greater St. Louis United Way has been participating in its annual fund drive ever since.

Two new agencies have been admitted into the United Way this year. "Any amount (that you can contribute) is precious to literally thousands of your fellow citizens of this community," said Chancellor William H. Danforth. "Any amount (that you can contribute) is precious to literally thousands of your fellow citizens of this community."

"The United Way has a long history in St. Louis. The concept of a unibrella organization serving the needs of numerous charities began in 1887. In 1922, St. Louisans adopted this idea and formed the United Community Chest. The United Way was formed in 1944 and the Greater St. Louis United Way has been participating in its annual fund drive ever since.

Two new agencies have been admitted into the United Way this year. "Any amount (that you can contribute) is precious to literally thousands of your fellow citizens of this community," said Chancellor William H. Danforth. "Any amount (that you can contribute) is precious to literally thousands of your fellow citizens of this community."

"The United Way has a long history in St. Louis. The concept of a unibrella organization serving the needs of numerous charities began in 1887. In 1922, St. Louisans adopted this idea and formed the United Community Chest. The United Way was formed in 1944 and the Greater St. Louis United Way has been participating in its annual fund drive ever since.

Two new agencies have been admitted into the United Way this year. "Any amount (that you can contribute) is precious to literally thousands of your fellow citizens of this community," said Chancellor William H. Danforth. "Any amount (that you can contribute) is precious to literally thousands of your fellow citizens of this community."

"The United Way has a long history in St. Louis. The concept of a unibrella organization serving the needs of numerous charities began in 1887. In 1922, St. Louisans adopted this idea and formed the United Community Chest. The United Way was formed in 1944 and the Greater St. Louis United Way has been participating in its annual fund drive ever since.

Leonard Berg, M.D., professor of neurology and director of the Alzheimer's Disease Research Center, participated in an international meeting held at the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md. Berg is an expert on the neurology of Alzheimer's disease. He gave testimony before the meeting on the Food and Drug Administration Advisory Committee on Peripheral and Central Nervous System Drugs. Berg is evaluating the evidence for safety and efficacy of the new Sambucol drug, or THC, being tested for symptomatic improvement of patients with Alzheimer's disease. Berg also was chairman of an Ad Hoc Review Committee that met in Maryland to evaluate grant applications focused on the management of Alzheimer's disease symptoms. The committee is jointly administered by the National Center for Nursing Research and the National Institute on Aging.

Don Conway-Long, instructor in the Women's Studies Program, gave the keynote address at the 16th National Conference on Men and Masculinity in Tucson, Ariz. His speech was titled "Professionalism and Masculinity: A Constructive Opportunity." The conference is sponsored by the Tucson Liberal Arts in the Community Association in the field of men's studies.

Karen Kronen, head of departmental libraries, was one of three speakers to address "Turbulence and Transformation: Academic Science/Technology Libraries in the '90s" at the Special Libraries Association Conference in Houston, Texas.

Joseph Deal, professor and dean of the School of Fine Arts, has photographed the University of Missouri for a display in an exhibit, titled "Through the Lens," at The Gallery at Mary Institute and St. Louis College of Fine Arts. The photos will be on display until Oct. 4. Other fine arts faculty members who have photographed the exhibit include: Jennifer Colten, lecturer, Patrick Benschus, lecturer; Stan Streicher, assistant professor; and Herb Weitman, adjunct professor. The exhibit is sponsored by the director of the University's photographic services.

Julf W. Einspanier, assistant director of personnel services, has been named a Senior Professional in Human Resources by the Human Resources Certification Institute. Einspanier passed a rigorous examination that tested her expertise in training, research and credentialing affiliate of the Society for Human Resource Management. The largest organization in the world representing human resource professionals, Einspanier is dedicated to the mission of the Institute to maintain high professional standards in the field of human resource management and to formally recognize professionals who demonstrate expertise in the field.

David F. Kuhns, Ph.D., assistant professor, has been awarded the 1991 Younger Scholar's Prize by the American Society for Theatre Research for his article, "Wedekind the Actor: Aesthetics, Publicity, and the Mechanics," published in Theatre Survey. The prize is awarded annually for the best essay in English on a subject in theatre research by an untenured scholar who is within seven years of completing doctoral requirements. Kuhns will receive the award in November at the society's annual meeting in Seattle, where he will deliver a paper, titled "Towards a Theory of Vitalism: A Semiotic Approach to Wedekind's Dramaturgy."

Virginia Marcus, lecturer of Japanese in the Department of Languages and Literatures and Literatures in the Near Eastern Languages and Literatures, has been named a Fellow by the Japanese Foundation to participate in a two-month institute on Japanese language pedagogy for non-native teachers in Tokyo.

Thomas J. McCarthy, D.V.M., associate veterinarian for University animal facilities in the Department of Comparative Medicine, recently was certified as a Diplomate of the American Veterinary Medical Association. Certification as a Diplomate is achieved by demonstrating competence in laboratory animal medicine and successful completion of experience requirements and a comprehensive examination.

David Moessner, assistant director of sports information, received three regional writing awards and two national citations during the College Sports Information Directors of America annual workshop. In addition, the Sports Information Office, with the help of Debbi Van Boevoe, production manager for public affairs, and Michael J. Wolf, sports information director, received 18 awards for its publication and writing, including six "Best in the Nation" awards in 1991. The "Best in the Nation" awards were for the volleyball media guide, the men's and women's soccer media guide cover, the women's soccer media guide cover, and the baseball media guide cover. Two awards for second in the nation went to the baseball media and special publications (football centennial program). Two awards for third in the nation went to special publications (football media guide program) and the women's soccer media guide. Two awards for fourth in the nation were for the baseball media guide cover and the women's cross-country media guide cover. Five awards for fifth in the nation went to the football game program.

William A. Murphy, M.D., professor of radiology and chairman of the musculoskeletal section at the Mallinckrodt Institute of Radiology, has been named chairman of the program committee for 1991 by the Radiological Society of North America (RSNA). The RSNA is the world's largest radiological organization dedicated to the advancement of medicine, science and education. The annual meeting of the RSNA is the largest of its kind and attracts more than 50,000 registrants each year.

Eric Pankey, director of The Writing Program, is the author of Apocrypha, a collection of poems recently published by Alfred A. Knopf.

Sue Trent, instructor in the Women's Studies Program, was one of six artists featured at an annual juried art exhibit sponsored by the St. Louis chapter of the Women's Caucus for Art at the St. Louis Design Center.

St. Philip Venable, M.D., assistant professor emeritus in the Department of Ophthalmology and Visual Sciences, presented a paper titled "An Unusual Case of Congenital Rubella Syndrome - Geiger's Syndrome" at the 9th annual meeting of the American Academy of Ophthalmology, Section in Indianapolis. He had followed the case for 22 years. He also was the recipient of the Award for Excellence in Ophthalmology presented by Shelby R. Wilkes, chairman of the eye section. He received a plaque in recognition of his outstanding accomplishments over 50 years.

Have you done something notable?

Have you presented a paper? Won an award? Been named to a committee or elected an officer of a professional organization? The Washington University Record will help spread the word. Contributions regarding faculty and staff scholarly or professional activities are gladly accepted and encouraged. Send a brief note with your full name, highest degree, current title and department, and the name, location and date of the event. Please include a phone number.

---

Executive Editor: Susan Killenberg, 935-5254, Campus Box 1070; P72245SS at WUVMC
Editor: Deborah Parker, 935-5225, Campus Box 109; P72245P at WUVMC
Assistant editor: Carolyn Sanford, 935-5259, Campus Box 1070; P72245P at WUVMC
Editor, Medical Record: Joe Angeles, Tom Heine, 362-8257, Medical School Campus Box 8065; Campus Box 1070; P72245CS at WUVMC
Assistant, Medical Record: Judy Wiese, Joanne Vinciguerra, Campus Box 1070; P72245SS at WUVMC
Business manager: Terri Ann Hensley, Joyce Boto, Karen Gentry, Tony Filipich, Jim Brehm and Joel Leanda
Photographers: Joe Angeles, Tom Heine, David Heine
Copy Chief: William G. Weidman
Record Production: VD 116, Number 5, 201. Published at the University of Missouri Campus Box 1070, St. Louis, Missouri 63130-0107

Address changes and corrections:
Postmaster: Send to: Record, Washington University, Campus Box 1070, St. Louis, Missouri 63130-0107

Billings:
Medical School Employees: Send to: Personnel Office, Washington University, Box 1194, One Brookings Drive, St. Louis, Missouri 63130-0107.

Medical Campus Employees: Send to: Payroll Office, Washington University, Box 8031, 660 S. Faisal, St. Louis, Missouri 63130-0107.

---

Coursey Katz receives awards for outstanding teaching

Professors Don L. Coursey, Ph.D., and I. Norman Katz, Ph.D., have been selected to receive awards for teaching excellence from the Burlington Northern Foundation. Each recipient was given a cash stipend of $2,500. They were honored at the Fall Honors Assembly Sept. 21 in Gildner Chapel.

The Burlington Northern Foundation Faculty Achievement Awards are given "in recognition of enduring teaching and exemplary contributions on behalf of undergraduate education." The foundation, based in Fort Worth, Texas, represents the Burlington Northern Railroad Co.

Coursey, a specialist in experimental economics, is the Vernon W. and Marion R. Piper Professor of Business Economics at the John M. Olin School of Business. He was named director of the school's Business, Law and Economics Center in 1988.

Coursey taught at the University of Wyoming before joining the Olin School faculty in 1986. He earned a bachelor's and a doctoral degree from the University of Arizona in 1976 and 1982, respectively.

Katz, professor and acting chair of systems science and mathematics in the School of Engineering and Applied Sciences, joined the Washington University faculty in 1967. Katz is a specialist in the quantitative model and its application to finance, as well as in economics, econometrics and mathematics. He earned a bachelor's and a doctoral degree from the University of California, Berkeley, in 1956 and 1960, respectively.

Katz received a bachelor's in mathematics from Yeshiva College, New York, in 1952, a master's in mathematics from the Institute of Advanced Study, Princeton University, New York, and a doctorate in mathematics from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1959.

---

Business school associate dean appointed

Richard J. Scaldini, Ph.D., an investment banker in the New York office of Union Bank of Switzerland, has been appointed associate dean and director of executive programs at the John M. Olin School of Business, Dean Robert L. Virgil, D.B.A., has announced.

"Scaldini brings a wealth of experience in both the academic and business worlds," Virgil said. "His extensive background in international business and finance will add a new dimension to our executive education programs."

Scaldini joined UBS Securities Inc., the U.S. investment banking arm of Union Bank of Switzerland, in 1983. He was named managing director-corporate finance to the Securities Group in 1986 and named corporate banking department in 1987. He was responsible for coordinating corporate finance assignments for over 50 clients in domestic and international markets, including Europe, North America and Asia.

He began his business career after spending 1980-81 as an investment banking fellow at Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs and his M.B.A. from Columbia in 1981. He worked from 1981 until 1983 as a merchant banking associate in the international division of Chemical Bank.

Scaldini also has considerable experience in the classroom, having taught in the language and literature programs at Dartmouth College from 1975 until 1979. He holds a doctorate from Yale University (1976), and a bachelor's degree from Tufts University (1969), both in French literature. He studied at the Universite de Paris, Sorbonne, in 1965-66 and as a research fellow from 1973-74 at the Ecole Normale Superieure de Paris. He is a member of the American Academy of German and Italian.

His new duties will be as associate dean of the Olin College of Business, serving as a liaison to executive programs and serving as an adviser to professional schools and departments. In addition, he will be the extension program director within Olin, working closely with the College of Continuing Education and the Olin Executive Programs.

---

New Rutgers president

Robert L. Lipton, J.D., Ph.D., has been named president of the Rutgers University-Newark Campus, effective July 1, 1992.

"I am excited about the challenge of leading a major metropolitan university," Lipton said. "Rutgers-Newark has a long and distinguished history of service to the inner city of Newark, and it is my responsibility to maintain and strengthen that commitment.

Lipton was appointed to his current position as chancellor of the City University of New York at Brooklyn College in 1988. He received both his law degree from the New York University School of Law and his doctorate in psychology from the City University of New York.
CAMPUS EVENTS

Thursday, Sept. 26
- 4 p.m. Department of Earth and Planetary Sciences Colloquium. "An Integrated Approach to the Management of Bone Marrow Failure Syndromes." Donnita A. Wall, M.D., director of the Bone Marrow Transplant Unit, St. Louis Children's Hospital. Clopton Aud., 4900 Audubon.
- 4:30 p.m. Department of Chemistry Seminar. ""Quantum Melting in Two Dimensions," Keivan Stajani, prof., WU Dept. of Chemistry.
- 4 p.m. East Asian Colloquium. "Current Research Trends in East Asia." John Walsh, prof., WU School of Business. Room 30 January Hall.
- 4 p.m. Liberty Bookstore Seminar Presents a Reading by Jose Donoso, Chilean author. Monday, Sept. 26.
- Thursday, Oct. 3
- 4:30 p.m. Division of Comparative Medicine Science Seminar. "Calcium and Hormone Action in the Aleurone Layer: A New Tool to Study the Perception of Light." Richard B. Simerly, Oregon Regional Primate Research Center. Room 100 Brown Hall.
- 4:30 p.m. Department of Pathology and Immunology Seminar. "COOH-Nterminal End of Pepsinogen Is a Cleavage Site Relevant for Rennin and the Foran System." Steinberg Hall Aud.
- Friday, Oct. 4
- 4:30 p.m. Department of the History and Analysis of Art Seminar. "Gender Ideology and Infant Abandonment in 17th Century Italy." David I. Kertzer, prof., Dept. of Sociology/Anthropology, Bowdoin College. Room 140 McDonnell Bldg.
- 8 p.m. School of Architecture Lecture on Urban Planning with John W. Zepf, director of the Center for Urban and Regional Planning, City of St. Louis Regional Planning Commission.
- Tuesday, Oct. 1
- 8 p.m. School of Architecture Lecture on Urban Planning with John W. Zepf, director of the Center for Urban and Regional Planning, City of St. Louis Regional Planning Commission.
- Tuesday, Oct. 2
- 10:30 a.m. Campus Y Offers Variety of Fall Classes. Several dates and time slots are available during the fall. For more information, contact the Campus Y at 956-9105.
- Tuesday, Oct. 2
- 11 a.m. Campus Y Offers Variety of Fall Classes. Several dates and time slots are available during the fall. For more information, contact the Campus Y at 956-9105.
- "Public Speaking" will be held from 4:30 to 6 p.m. Tuesdays, beginning Oct. 2, at the Campus Y. For information and to register, call the Campus Y at 956-9105.