

Washington University School of Medicine

Digital Commons@Becker

2011 St. Louis OHRP National Research Forum
and Community-Engaged Research Conference

2011 Conferences

2011

Planning committee

Human Research Protection Office, Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.wustl.edu/hrpoconf_orhp2011

Recommended Citation

Human Research Protection Office, Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis, "Planning committee" (2011). 2011 St. Louis OHRP National Research Forum and Community-Engaged Research Conference. Paper 8.

https://digitalcommons.wustl.edu/hrpoconf_orhp2011/8

This Planning Committees and Faculty is brought to you for free and open access by the 2011 Conferences at Digital Commons@Becker. It has been accepted for inclusion in 2011 St. Louis OHRP National Research Forum and Community-Engaged Research Conference by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Becker. For more information, please contact vanam@wustl.edu.

Community-Engaged Research

September 26, 2011

An OHRP National Research Community Forum

CO-SPONSORS

Office for Human Research Protections
Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis
Meharry Medical College

September 27, 2011

Community-Engaged Research Conference

CO-SPONSORS

Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis
Meharry Medical College
Washington University Institute of Clinical and Translational Sciences

Exploring the Unique Community-Academic Relationship

PLANNING COMMITTEE

Name	Biography
Lori Behrens, MSW, LCSW	Ms. Behrens is the Executive Director of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome in St. Louis, Missouri. She is co-investigator on a study funded by the newly established St. Louis Community/University Research Partnership Awardees through the St. Louis Regional Health Commission.
Janet M. Caldwell, MS	Ms. Caldwell is Associate Vice President for Marketing and Communications and is responsible for raising the awareness of Meharry Medical College and its global contribution to the elimination of healthcare disparities. Ms. Caldwell oversees public relations, marketing and internal communications. (Meharry Medical College)
Bradley Evanoff, MD, MPH	Dr. Evanoff is the Dr. Richard A. And Elizabeth Henby Professor of Occupational, Industrial and Environmental Science. His professional experience includes community-based participatory research in the prevention of work related injuries. Dr. Evanoff is currently the Principal Investigator for the Clinical and Translational Science Award (CTSA) grant whose focus includes community engaged research. (Washington University)

Sarah Fowler-Dixon, PhD, CIP	Dr. Fowler-Dixon is the Education Specialist for the Human Research Protection Office. She is responsible for developing and implementing education programs that assist Washington University staff, students, committee members, and investigators to keep abreast of changing research climate. Dr. Fowler-Dixon is the point person for the Community Engaged Research Program and instructor in the Clinical Research Management program. (Washington University)
Jane Garbutt, MB ChB	Dr. Garbutt is Associate Professor of Medicine and Pediatrics and heads the Community Health Care Practitioners program. She is also Director of a Practice-Based Research Network (PBRN) of community pediatricians. This network has developed a formal infrastructure to actively engage community practitioners in clinical and translational research. (Washington University)
Sarah Gehlert, PhD	Dr. Gehlert is E. Desmond Lee Professor of Racial and Ethnic Diversity charged with expanding research in and with the community. She has presented nationally on the GenoCommunity as well as Community Based Participatory Research and transdisciplinary approaches. She is the co-Director of the Center for Community-Engaged Research, Institute for Clinical and Translational Research and has hosted national community engaged workshops. (Washington University)
Jonathan Green, MD	Dr. Green is Associate Professor of Medicine in the Division of Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine and the IRB Executive Chair at Washington University that reviews and oversees a number of research studies, including those that engage the community. He is also a member and former Chair of the Barnes-Jewish Hospital Ethics Committee and community volunteer having worked with community organizations for a number of years. (Washington University)
Martha Jones, MA, CIP	Ms. Jones is the Human Research Protection Office's Executive Director. She is a site visitor with the Association for the Accreditation of Human Research Protection Programs (AAAHRP) and has served as an IRB Chair for both biomedical and behavioral/social science boards. She has expertise in the conduct of multi-center clinical trials as well as experience with a wide variety of biomedical, epidemiologic, public health, behavioral and social science research. Ms. Jones has extensive experience in the development of research data collection tools, database design, and data management for both clinical and non-clinical research activities and regulatory compliance. (Washington University)
Carla Pinkston	Ms. Pinkston is the Executive Assistant to the Executive Director and Associate Director, Human Research Protection Office responsible for assisting with planning efforts for the conference.

Charles Mouton, MD, MS	Dr. Mouton is the Senior Vice President of Health Affairs and Dean of Meharry Medical College's Medical School. He also serves as Senior Vice President of Health Affairs, working closely with key stakeholders including the Department of Veterans Affairs, Vanderbilt University Medical Center, the Meharry-Vanderbilt Alliance, Matthew Walker Comprehensive Health Center, and Nashville General Hospital at Meharry. As a researcher, Dr. Mouton has conducted community engaged research with a wide variety of partners. (Meharry Medical College)
Kelly Mullen, RN, MSN	Ms. Mullens is the Senior Director of Clinical Operations and is the nurse planner for continuing nursing education credits. (Washington University)
John Murray, MD, PhD	Dr. Murray is the Associate Vice President for Clinical Research and Professor of Medicine and Professor of Biomedical Sciences. He is also Director of the Participant and Clinical Interaction Resources (PCIR) (formerly Clinical Research Center), Institutional Officer for the IRB, Director of the Master of Science in Clinical Investigation (MSCI) program, and Adjunct Professor of Medicine and Pharmacology at Vanderbilt Medical School. His primary role at Meharry is to oversee the clinical research enterprise that includes supervising clinical trials, educating clinical investigators, and ensuring compliance with regulatory and ethical aspects of human research. (Meharry Medical College)
Russell Poland, PhD	Dr. Poland is Vice President for Research and Professor of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences. He is a psychopharmacologist and has been actively engaged in basic, clinical and translational research throughout his career, including research on ethnicity and psychopharmacology, pharmacogenomics, and health disparities. He was continuously funded by NIH for more than 25 years, including a MERIT award. (Meharry Medical College)
Hannah Reinhart, MS	Ms. Reinhart is the Community Development Coordinator for Gateway Greening, a St. Louis, MO, nonprofit promoting community development, health and wellness through community gardens and urban food projects. She is co-investigator on a study funded by the newly established St. Louis Community/University Research Partnership Awardees through the St. Louis Regional Health Commission.
Darlene Marie Ross, B.S.	Ms. Ross is a Public Health Analyst who has been with the federal government for 40 years working in the arena of human subjects protections and responsible for coordinating OHRP National Research Community Forums. (Office for Human Research Protection)

Mitchell Sommers, PhD	Dr. Sommers is Professor of Psychology and chair of the behavior IRB subcommittee at Washington University. His varied experience includes social/behavioral and biomedical research methodologies, work with vulnerable populations and engaged the community in research. (Washington University)
Elyse I. Summers, JD	Ms. Summers is the Director of the Division of Education and Development (DED) for the Office for Human Research Protections. She oversees the design and implementation of DED's activities, which endeavor to enhance the protection of human subjects in HHS conducted or supported research, by providing education to individuals involved in the human subjects research enterprise. (Office for Human Research Protection)
Jeanne Velders, JD, RN, CIP	Ms. Velders is the Associate Director and Manager of Education and Compliance for the Human Research Protection Office. She is responsible for management, oversight, and educating investigators on compliance issues. (Washington University)
Consuelo H. Wilkins, MD, MSCI	Dr. Wilkins is an Associate Professor in the Department of Medicine, Division of Geriatrics and Nutritional Science, with a secondary appointment in Psychiatry. She is a Co-Director of the Center for Community-Engaged Research in the Institute of Clinical and Translational Science, Director of the Community Outreach Program in the Nutrition Obesity Research Center, and Director of "Our Community, Our Health." She is also the Health Editor and a columnist for the St. Louis American newspaper. (Washington University)
Monique Williams, MD, MSCI	Dr. Williams is the Director, African American Outreach Satellite for the Knight Alzheimer's Disease Research Center, Director, Community Outreach and Recruitment Core for the Bioethics Infrastructure Initiative and Assistant Professor of Medicine, Division of Geriatrics and Nutritional Science. (Washington University)