MARIAN ARLENE SIZE-LOVE, known to her friends and confederates as ‘Suzie’, was born in Chicago on a blustery Saturday morning, March 27 in the year 1920.

She spent a quiet, peaceful childhood in a small frame house in Kentland, Indiana - populace 1800. Her only claim to fame during childhood was that she lived next door to the ex-governor of Indiana. She attended Kentland public school for eight years and was anything but teacher’s pet, since teacher was her sister.

Having received her high school diploma, she departed for MacMurray College for Women in Jacksonville, Ill. After two years she left MacMurray to further her studies in food at Iowa State College where in 1942 she was awarded her B.S. in Foods and Nutrition with a major in Dietetics.

Miss Sizelove interned at Jewish Hospital in Philadelphia. Now she was a full fledged dietitian. Look out, you poor undernourished people, here comes Sizelove with the light of humanity in her hand - BREAD. She accepted a position at Union Memorial Hospital at Baltimore, Maryland. Next she worked at Allegheny General Hospital in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

She returned to college, this time to Michigan State. In September, 1947 she received her M.S. in Nutrition. Her thesis was on ‘Calcium Metabolism in Women’.

Miss Sizelove arrived at Barnes in October, 1947 to take over the responsibilities of Educational Dietress. However, Miss Becker, Administrative Dietitian, left on an extended leave of absence, and Miss Sizelove undertook to assume these responsibilities also. Our hats are off to her for the grand job she is doing.

Now let’s get personal for a moment. Suzie is 5’6” tall. She has brown hair and sparkling mischievous blue eyes. Her favorite food is french fried onions. Her hobbies are reading and dancing.

Her main ambition in life is to marry, and secondly to take an ocean voyage and visit South America.

Her pet peeve is people who don’t use their common sense.

So you’re a salesman!

What’s your line?

‘Salt.’

‘I’m a salt seller, too.’

‘Shake.’

The patient in a lunatic ward insisted that he was Napoleon. Who gave you that name? the doctor asked.

‘Hitler gave it to me,’ said the man.

‘No, I didn’t,’ said a voice under the next bed.

They laughed when I stood up to sing -- how did I know I was under the table?

VOLUNTEERS

Volunteer workers have contributed greatly to the efficiency of the hospital. Their small but important duties enable full time employees to use their time to greater advantage. Volunteer duties consist of answering the telephone, passing fresh water, putting away clean linen, taking patients to X-ray, feeding helpless patients, answering patients’ signals, and running various errands.

Those people on volunteer service as hospital aides are:

Mrs. Stanley Turkel
Mrs. Edgar Mothershead
Miss Hilda Vogt
Miss Catherine Callas
Miss Agnes Kinsella
Mrs. Robert Hall
Mrs. Ida McCleary
Miss Eleanor Grappe
Miss Patricia Kendall
Mrs. Gilbert Trimble
Mrs. Elizabeth Dowdell

Library workers, and x-ray volunteers also are a part of hospital volunteer service. Library workers distribute books to the patients on a lending basis.

All hospital volunteers are secured through the Social Planning Council of St. Louis. On Thursday evening, May 27, the Social Planning Council will refer seven new volunteers to personnel for aid in Maternity Hospital.
STORK NEWS

BARNES SPORTSMEN

The Hospital Administration Students, after a defeat by the Medical Interns in Basketball, revived and won a 6-3 victory in Softball. Enthusiasm was sparked by the pitching of FRED MENENDEZ who is not a student but head of the IBM department. Medical Interns claim numerous injuries as their handicap.
