JUDGE IVAN LEE HOLT, JR.
APPOINTED TRUSTEE

Announcement was made on April 9 of the appointment of JUDGE IVAN LEE HOLT, JR. to the Board of Trustees of Barnes Hospital. Judge Holt, Judge in the St. Louis Circuit Court, fills the vacancy on the Board of Trustees which occurred last November with the death of ARTHUR G. DREFS, who was chairman of the board of the Mc Quay-Norris Manufacturing Company.

The Board of Trustees of Barnes Hospital has seven members whose appointments are made by the Bishop of the Methodist Church in the St. Louis area. BISHOP IVAN LEE HOLT, SR. is now presiding Bishop.

Born in Marshall, Missouri, Judge Holt obtained his law degree from the University of Chicago. He was appointed as an assistant circuit attorney under THOMAS C. HENNINGS, JR. in 1941. In May, 1942, he entered the United States Navy and when discharged in August, 1946, he had reached the rank of commander. He was assistant professor of law at Washington University in 1947-48, and was engaged in the practice of law until his present appointment in September, 1949.

Active in civic affairs, Judge Holt is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Methodist Orphans Home Association, and a member of the executive committee of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Judge Holt is married and has three children.

EDGAR E. RAND FEATURED IN NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE ARTICLE

On March 29 the New York Herald Tribune, in its daily column featuring outstanding business and finance leaders, paid tribute to MR. EDGAR E. RAND, president of International Shoe Company and a member of the Board of Trustees of Barnes Hospital. The article is reprinted below:

“Edgar E. Rand was elected president of International Shoe Co. a year ago last February and was pleased when an employee was heard to remark at that time: “There’s one thing about that guy - he tells you what he wants done and then leaves you alone to go ahead and do it.” ... That remark pretty well sums up Ed Rand and the way the people at International, world’s largest shoemaker, feel about him. ... He’s liked for his genuineness and total lack of pretense; he’s respected for his know-how and application to his job. ... It’s not surprising that Ed Rand, being his father’s eldest son, possesses those qualities. ... His father, the late Frank Chambless Rand, who had been International’s board chairman for twenty years at the time of his death, and who started the company as a salesman traveling by horse and buggy, detested pomposity as thoroughly as he liked naturalness, was as quick to scorn a loafer as to praise a worker. ... When Edgar Rand attended rugged Webb School, at Bell Buckle, Tennessee, the boys heated water over a common stove and bathed in washtubs because the school’s founder, Sen. William R. Webb, believed in spending money for teachers and reference books, not physical comforts. ... He started sorting leather for International Shoe Co. a month after his graduation from Vanderbilt University in 1927, and took considerable pride in the fact that he always showed up ahead of the 7:30 a.m. starting time. ... After several years at cutting leather and running last machines in various of the company’s factories, Ed (Continued on Page 4)
SUCCEEDED BY JEAN HUNTER

April 20 was farewell day for MRS. FAYE ROBERTSON, Assistant Director of the Laboratories, who left our staff to accompany her husband to Seattle, Washington, where he has been recalled to active duty with the United States Air Force. Mrs. Robertson came to Barnes in February, 1946, and was promoted to Assistant Director of the Laboratories in October, 1949.

At the Departmental Conference on April 11, DR. BRADLEY expressed his appreciation of the fine service rendered by Mrs. Robertson. He praised her loyal, honest and sincere effort and interest displayed in the performance of her complex job. All of us join in wishing her well in her new location.

MISS JEAN HUNTER has been appointed Assistant Director of the Laboratories to succeed Mrs. Robertson. Miss Hunter was born and reared in Mount Vernon, Illinois, where she received her elementary and high school education. She took her technician’s training at the Gradwohl School of Laboratory and X-Ray Technique, a one year course followed by a six month internship.

MC MILLAN RECOVERY ROOM OPENS

On April 5 the recovery room on the second floor of Mc Millan was officially opened. With a capacity for six patients, this room has been designed as a place where patients are taken immediately following surgery so that they may receive expert post-operative care. They remain there under the care of two registered nurses and an orderly until they recover from the effects of the anesthesia.

On the first day, eleven patients used the recovery room. It is expected, however, that this number will be greater on subsequent days because on opening day nose and throat surgery was light due to a nose and throat conference held that day.

DR. JOHN BASSETT IN LONDON

A letter received recently by DR. FRANK BRADLEY from IAN AIRD, Professor of Surgery, Post-Graduate Medical School, University of London, about DR. JOHN BASSETT should be of interest to many Barnes employees. Dr. Bassett, who was on Barnes Hospital surgical service, left in September, 1950, on a leave of absence to go to England. The letter reads as follows:

"Your young assistant resident from Barnes, John Bassett, has been a tower of strength and amusement to us here for some time now. He has acted as Supernumerary Registrar and has really got on awfully well. I put him on our artificial heart/lung team and he has worked very hard at it indeed. I think he is a very bright boy and I have enjoyed having him more than I can say. You can imagine how well he got on with all our young residents for he has a great sense of humour, and was constantly being ribbed of course for his Americanism. We have almost fully Anglicised him now; he has an English car and an umbrella and I hope to persuade him to wear a bowler hat before we send him home. I think he is going to a job in Pittsburgh."
AMERICAN COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS CONVENES IN ST. LOUIS

On April 9-13 the American College of Physicians held its thirty-second Annual Session in St. Louis. General headquarters for the convention was Kiel Auditorium.

On April 10 and 12 clinical sessions were held in the large amphitheatre at Barnes Hospital. On April 20 the following program was presented: "The Management of Acute Bacterial Pneumonia," W. BARRY WOOD, JR.; "Treatment of Subacute Bacterial Endocarditis," THOMAS H. HUNTER; "Non-allergic Asthma," HARRY L. ALEXANDER; "Diagnosis of Bronchogenic Carcinoma," EVARTS A. GRAHAM; "Multiple Myeloma," DAVID P. BARR.

On April 12 the following subjects were discussed: "Therapeutic Implications of Current Concepts of Sickle Cell Diseases," CARL V. MOORE; "The Handling of First Convulsive Seizures in Adults," JAMES L. O'LEARY; "Use of Sex Steroids in Treating the Menopause," WILLARD M. ALLEN; "Fundamental Mechanisms of Cardiospasm," ALBERT I. MENDELOFF; "Treatment of Thyrotoxicosis," WILLIAM H. DAUGHADAY; "Mesenchymal Tumors of the Stomach," GLADDEN V. ELLIOTT and HUGH M. WILSON.

Rand was made an upper leather buyer and subsequently moved up to the merchandising and distribution department. ... He was made a vice-president of the company in 1947, and in February, 1950, was named president to succeed Byron A. Gray, who moved up to board chairman. ... In 1942 Ed Rand went to Washington for a three-week assignment and remained there for four years working with O.P.A., carrying out some special projects under W. Stuart Symington and working out the government's program for disposal of surplus footwear."

EMERGENCY RESUSCITATION CART AVAILABLE

There is now available an emergency resuscitation cart sponsored by the Division of Anesthesiology for use by medical personnel throughout the Barnes Hospital Group.

Equipped with an oxygen supply, an electric suction machine, an anesthetic bag and mask for easy artificial ventilation of a patient and equipment for intubation, it is located near the Bronchoscopy Room on the third floor of the Mallinckrodt building, where it is kept in readiness at all times. The emergency cart contains laryngoscopes, endotracheal tubes, oropharyngeal airways, a tracheotomy set and other miscellaneous equipment for establishing a patient's airway.

It is hoped that use will be made of this apparatus for patients who show respiratory depression or obstruction from any cause. It is, of course, designed only for short-time use, and will be replaced by a large oxygen tank if oxygen is needed and other more permanent equipment so that it can be used should another emergency arise.

Questions about its location and use should be directed to DR. DOUGLAS W. EASTWOOD in the Division of Anesthesiology.

The vital role the Telephone Office plays in the business of running a large hospital group is evidenced clearly by the fact that each of the operators is trained with the thought in mind that every call coming in on the board may be an emergency. Nine times out of ten the calls are merely routine, but the tenth call may be one which necessitates particular skill and alertness on the part of the operator. Eleven of these girls, working alternate shifts, keep the board covered twenty-four hours a day. Most of our operators have received their basic training at Bell Telephone Company, and all must have had rather extensive previous experience in that line of work.

The load of traffic rather than the size of a board determines how heavy the board is. Ours is an extremely heavy board and has a very high percentage of long distance and toll calls. All calls are supposed to be answered by the operator within ten seconds. Our telephone office has a five position automatic board with almost eight hundred stations on the board. The mechanism of the switchboard must undergo regular inspection so that it will be in perfect working order at all times. Barnes, Mc Millan and Maternity Hospitals, the Washington University Clinics, the Washington University School of Medicine, and the Mallinckrodt Institute of Radiology are served by our Telephone Office.

An important function of this department is the location of doctors throughout the hospital. We are all familiar with the

THE TELEPHONE OFFICE

A subsidiary function of the Telephone Office is the maintenance of a location system for all men on private medical service. A secretary locates the doctors for new admissions on private medicine, takes messages for these men and keeps records on their patients. Her office is directly across the hall from the Telephone Office. In order to facilitate the location of doctors, all staff men must register in and out of the hospital at the Telephone Office.

It would be difficult for any of us to imagine the hospital without the services rendered by the Telephone Office. We take its marvelous convenience for granted and seldom stop to realize that it is truly the nerve center of our hospital group.

CORRECTION

We regret that in the March issue of the HOSPITAL RECORD the name of DR. MARVIN ROSECAN was incorrectly spelled.

Judge (to prisoner aged sixty) - "The sentence is thirty years penal servitude."

Prisoner (in tears) - "Your honor, I shall not live long enough to serve the sentence."

Judge (in kindly tone) - "Don't worry, do what you can."

Out-of-town man (to New York City minister): "Do you think I could live a good Christian life here in the city on $20 a week?"

Minister (smiling): "My boy, that's all you could do."

KNOW YOUR STAFF

FRED MENENDEZ, Supervisor of the I.B.M. Department, was born in Terre Haute, Indiana, September 6, 1920, of parents who had migrated to this country from Spain. His family moved to St. Louis when he was only six weeks old, however, so he has always considered himself a native of this city.

Mr. Menendez attended Cleveland High School, and upon graduation, began his I.B.M. career in a job at United Charities. They sent him to I.B.M. school for his basic training in punch card accounting. By the time he left (some two years later) he was supervisor of the I.B.M. Department at United Charities. Next stop was Curtiss-Wright, where, after six months he became unit supervisor of the material accounting division. In the spring of 1944 Uncle Sam called and Mr. Menendez was assigned as I.B.M. specialist in one of the largest punch card installations the Navy had at the Bureau of Ships Service Parts on Wall Street in New York City. He remained at this post until V-J day when the Bureau closed. He was then sent to the Brooklyn Navy Yard and set up a personnel control system for the Naval Receiving Station there. For the work he did on this project he was awarded a Naval Citation. In May, 1946, he received an honorable discharge from the Navy and very shortly afterwards came to work in the I.B.M. Department at Barnes, where he is now supervisor. Throughout his career he has returned at intervals to I.B.M. school in order to keep abreast of new developments in the field.

Mr. Menendez is married and has three little girls: Charlotte, ten years old, Marilyn, seven, and Melody, one. He and his wife met when his industrial arts teacher at high school took him home one afternoon to help him pull a tree out of the lawn. The family dog charged out of the house at unsuspecting Fred, and his instructor's daughter, Ruth, rescued him, thus beginning the romance that culminated in their marriage several years later.

He is active in the American Legion, being a past vice-commander of American Legion Post 514. He is also a charter member of the Machine Accountants Association. He would walk a mile for a T-bone steak, medium well done, and occasionally tries his hand at preparing barbecue. There was never a more avid St. Louis Cardinal fan than Fred Menendez, who shows an almost equal enthusiasm for all sports. As star hurler for the Hospital Administration team, he is not making any predictions about the final outcome of this season's play, but it is obvious that he is expecting the boys from the front office to come out on top.

A Sunday School teacher was showing her class a picture of the Christian martyrs in a den of lions. One little boy seemed very much worried about something. "Gee," he said sadly, "look at that poor lion in the back. He won't get any."

BARNES PERSONALITY

"Bonnie Scotland where the blue-bells and the heather grow," is the place from which this month's personality hails originally. CATHERINE GRANT, an attendant on 2418 for the past twenty-four years, was born in Stirlingshire, Scotland, the daughter of a stone mason, and the youngest in a family of nine children. One of her outstanding recollections of school days is her prowess at shooting marbles. She was so good at it that no one wanted to play with her because she always won.

Catherine came to the United States in 1910 to get married. Her fiancé had immigrated to the States a short time prior to this and had obtained a job in the coal mines at Beckemeyer, Illinois. Catherine admits that leaving her home to come to a strange new land frightened her, and that accustoming herself to our extremes in climate was most difficult, but when she returned to Scotland several years later, she found that it was not as she had remembered it and she was eager to return to her "home" in America, where she has remained ever since. She became a United States citizen many years ago.

Catherine recently celebrated her twenty-fourth anniversary as a Barnes employee. It was on March 27, 1927, that she started work here as an attendant on 2418 nursing division. According to GLADYS GUNNESS, Assistant Superintendent of Nurses, Catherine has never missed a single day at work due to illness in all that time. She is the mother of two fine sons: Thomas, who is married and working as a supervisor for the Commercial Telephone Company in Belvedere, Illinois, and George, who is in the Army out in California.

Catherine likes movies and is quite a television fan. Movie producers would tear their hair if they could hear her say in her typically Scotch brogue (still present after forty years) that she thinks T.V. is here to stay and that it will probably replace motion pictures. She is a consistently jolly person, as anyone who knows her will attest, and has no patience with people who go about in a chronic state of gloom. Catherine has always displayed an enthusiastic personal interest in her patients, which has resulted in a more pleasant hospital stay for many of them.

A young lady was on a sight-seeing tour of Detroit. Going out Jefferson Avenue, the driver of the bus called out places of interest.

"On the right," he announced, "we have the Dodge home."

"John Dodge?" the lady inquired.

"No, Horace Dodge."

Farther out Jefferson.

"On the right we have the Ford home."

"Henry Ford?" queried the lady.

"No, Edsel Ford."

Still farther out Jefferson.

"On the left, we have Christ Church."

A fellow passenger, hearing no question from the young lady, tapped her on the shoulder and said, "Go ahead, lady, you can't be wrong all the time."

There is contemplated a golf tournament for the members of the house staff of the various services, Senior Medical Students, and Hospital Administration Students. There will be both two-man teams and individual competition. Those people who are interested may contact ART COLTRIN at Station 421.

Under Art Coltrin’s management, a basketball tournament is now in progress between Barnes Hospital and City Hospital. Thus far, two hotly contested games have been played. City Hospital won the first game 31-28. In the second game, Barnes was the victor by a score of 35-33. The games have been played in the gymnasium of the Second Presbyterian Church. The final and deciding game is expected to be very hard fought, and is to be scheduled in the near future.

Barnes Hospital has been represented in these games by WILL BIRTHELMER and GENE EDWARDS, Hospital Administration Students, DRS. FRED CALDWELL and JIM ROBERTS, Pathology, DR. JACK BERRY, Medicine, DR. MAC BONEBRAKE, Gynecology, and DRS. BOB SHANEWISE and ZECK LIEBERMAN, Surgery.

REPORT ON VOLUNTEER SERVICES

MRS. ISAAC C. ORR, Chairman of Volunteer Services, St. Louis Chapter, American Red Cross, has turned in the following report of the service which Red Cross volunteers performed at Barnes during 1950:

- 66 Gray Ladies gave 4396 hours
- 4 Nurse’s Aides gave 51 hours
- Total 70 hours: 4447 hours

On April 12 the St. Louis Star Times carried a picture of MISS ANN CAMPBELL, Superintendent of Nurses, “capping” MISS IDA POLINSKY, a Red Cross Gray Lady, who had given 25 hours service here at Barnes Hospital. Ceremonies were held at Red Cross headquarters at 3414 Lindell.

A sailor and a girl were riding on horseback out in the country. As they stopped for a rest the two horses rubbed necks affectionately.

"Ah me," said the sailor, "that’s what I’d like to do."

"Go ahead," said the girl, "it’s your horse."

Father to small son, "Never mind how I first met your mother --- just don’t go around whistling."
ON THE SCENE

Best wishes to DELORES COLEMAN, Pantry Maid, on her marriage on April 7, to GEORGE PAYNE, JR. --- JOSEPH UNGERER, Maintenance, has been handing out big black cigars as the result of becoming the father of a baby girl. The new arrival has been named BARBARA ANN. --- HELEN JOHNS, Maternity Delivery Room Nurse and a recent Washington University School of Nursing graduate, was married in March to CLARENCE A. ONDES, a member of the United States Air Force. --- MIRIAM KIDWELL’s face is a welcome sight to see. Miriam, a member of the Barnes Record Library staff, was the victor in a tough bout with pneumonia. --- RUSSELL, ROBERT and LEROY ADAMS, all of Maintenance, have our deepest sympathy upon the death of their mother. --- We are all sorry to lose ESTHER KILLION, Barnes Record Library, but she has our best wishes for success in her new position as secretary to DR. LEON FOX, Orthopedic Surgeon on the staff here. --- Congratulations to MR. and MRS. WALTER ESLINGER on their marriage on Friday 13 (they must not be superstitious) at Third Baptist Church. Mrs. Eslinger is the former CLARE BANGERT of the Drug Store Fountain. --- A number of people within the hospital made a trip to Kansas City earlier this month to attend a meeting of the Mid-West Hospital Association. Those who attended were: CORNELIA KNOWLES, Associate Director of Mc Millan Hospital, HARRY E.
