Louis Sullivan, health and human services secretary, to talk here

Louis W. Sullivan, M.D., secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services, will deliver the George Warren Brown School of Social Work Benjamin F. Youngdahl Lecture at 5 p.m. Wednesday, April 25, in Graham Chapel. His talk, part of the Assembly Series, is "Medical Ethics: National and International Directions for the 1990s.

During Sullivan's honors are the Boston University Alumni Award for Distinguished Public Service in 1985 and the establishment of an annual lecturership in his honor at the Morehouse School of Medicine in 1986. The National Association of Minority Medical Educators cited him for outstanding contributions to the education of minorities in medicine in 1984. He was a member of then-Vice President George Bush's official member delegation to seven African countries in 1983.

The lecture is named for Benjamin F. Youngdahl, who was dean of the George Warren Brown School of Social Work at Washington from 1945 to 1962. It was established in recognition of the field of social work and was an outspoken advocate of civil rights in both his private and public life.

For more information on the lecture, call 889-4620.

New vice chancellor for administration, finance named to succeed Ronald Evans

Richard E. Anderson, Ph.D., director of the Forum for College Financing and professor of higher education at Columbia University in New York, has been appointed vice chancellor for administration and finance at Washington University. Chancellor William H. Danforth has announced. The appointment is effective June 1, 1990. He succeeds Ronald G. Evans, M.D., who will return to full-time duties as director of the Mallinckrodt Institute of Radiology at the School of Medicine. Evans also is head of the Department of Radiology and Elizabeth Mallinckrodt Professor of Medicine. Evens also is head of the Department of Radiology and Elizabeth Mallinckrodt Professor of Medicine. Evens also is head of the Department of Radiology and Elizabeth Mallinckrodt Professor of Medicine.

Anderson has been associated professionally with Columbia University since 1974 when he was named assistant professor in the graduate school of education and coordinator of joint programs in higher education finance with the university's graduate school of business. In 1982 he was appointed chairman and professor of the Department of Higher and Adult Education and, in 1985, he became director of the Forum for College Financing, which is a part of a federally funded research center located at the University of Maryland.

Chancellor Danforth said Anderson's appointment represents the culmination of a nationwide search. "Dr. Anderson's credentials are impeccable, and we are extremely fortunate to attract a person with his skills. He is tailored for the position at Washington University and we look forward to his arrival on campus," he said.

Anderson is a nationally recognized writer and editor who has published in many academic publications covering a wide range of topics in higher education. He also has served as a consultant to many colleges and universities as well as to state and federal agencies. In his present position as director of the Forum for College Financing, he addresses higher education financing problems in cooperation with a number of leading public and private universities and major investment banks and national accounting and law firms.

A native of New York, Anderson received his bachelor's degree from Stanford University and both his master's in business administration and doctorate from Columbia University in 1972 and 1974, respectively. He is married and has two children.

Washington correspondent Judy Woodruff will give lecture on 'News in the 90s'

Judy C. Woodruff, chief Washington correspondent for WCVB, has been appointed founding dean of the Rosalind Russell Center. The center will give lecture on 'News in the 90s,' which is part of the Assembly Series.

Dr. Anderson's appointment represents the culmination of a nationwide search. "Dr. Anderson's credentials are impeccable, and we are extremely fortunate to attract a person with his skills. He is tailored for the position at Washington University and we look forward to his arrival on campus," he said.

Anderson is a nationally recognized writer and editor who has published in many academic publications covering a wide range of topics in higher education. He also has served as a consultant to many colleges and universities as well as to state and federal agencies. In his present position as director of the Forum for College Financing, he addresses higher education financing problems in cooperation with a number of leading public and private universities and major investment banks and national accounting and law firms.

A native of New York, Anderson received his bachelor's degree from Stanford University and both his master's in business administration and doctorate from Columbia University in 1972 and 1974, respectively. He is married and has two children.

Washington correspondent Judy Woodruff will give lecture on 'News in the 90s'

Judy C. Woodruff, chief Washington correspondent for WCVB, has been appointed founding dean of the Rosalind Russell Center. The center will give lecture on 'News in the 90s,' which is part of the Assembly Series.

Dr. Anderson's appointment represents the culmination of a nationwide search. "Dr. Anderson's credentials are impeccable, and we are extremely fortunate to attract a person with his skills. He is tailored for the position at Washington University and we look forward to his arrival on campus," he said.

Anderson is a nationally recognized writer and editor who has published in many academic publications covering a wide range of topics in higher education. He also has served as a consultant to many colleges and universities as well as to state and federal agencies. In his present position as director of the Forum for College Financing, he addresses higher education financing problems in cooperation with a number of leading public and private universities and major investment banks and national accounting and law firms.

A native of New York, Anderson received his bachelor's degree from Stanford University and both his master's in business administration and doctorate from Columbia University in 1972 and 1974, respectively. He is married and has two children.

Washington correspondent Judy Woodruff will give lecture on 'News in the 90s'

Judy C. Woodruff, chief Washington correspondent for WCVB, has been appointed founding dean of the Rosalind Russell Center. The center will give lecture on 'News in the 90s,' which is part of the Assembly Series.

Dr. Anderson's appointment represents the culmination of a nationwide search. "Dr. Anderson's credentials are impeccable, and we are extremely fortunate to attract a person with his skills. He is tailored for the position at Washington University and we look forward to his arrival on campus," he said.

Anderson is a nationally recognized writer and editor who has published in many academic publications covering a wide range of topics in higher education. He also has served as a consultant to many colleges and universities as well as to state and federal agencies. In his present position as director of the Forum for College Financing, he addresses higher education financing problems in cooperation with a number of leading public and private universities and major investment banks and national accounting and law firms.

A native of New York, Anderson received his bachelor's degree from Stanford University and both his master's in business administration and doctorate from Columbia University in 1972 and 1974, respectively. He is married and has two children.
Movements from everyday life highlight dance performance

Susan Marshall & Company, a fresh, original, powerful voice in modern dance, will perform at 8 p.m. April 27 and 28 and at 2 p.m. April 29 in Edison Theatre.

As part of Edison's "Meet the Artists" program, choreographer Marshall, who has toured worldwide, will discuss her work in a "Meet the Artist" performance April 28.

The company will see "Arms," "Kiss" and "Kim." Marshall clearly is concerned with depicting human relationships. Her choreography is familiar to the general public because she uses "dances to express emotions through dance."

Past recipients include Apres Debois, Jerome Robbins, Paul Taylor and Merce Cunningham.

The event is co-sponsored by Dance St. Louis and Edison Theatre's "OVATION!," a series which offers a diverse selection of world-renowned performing arts events to the general public.

Tickets are $16 for the general public and $8 for senior citizens and faculty and staff; and $8 for students. For more information, call 889-6543.

Hotchkin playwriting winner to be staged

"Had Mamma Left a Lullaby...?" the winning script in Washington University's annual A.E. Hotchkin playwriting competition, will be performed at 8 p.m. April 26, 27 and 28 in the Drama Studio, Room 206 Mallinckrodt Center.

The play, written by Rick Watson, a graduate student in the University's Writing Program, is set on a small, isolated farm in rural Missouri. The plot revolves around Penelope, a woman who convinces two men, Hemi and Lester, to marry her so that she can escape his sexual advances, collect his life insurance and begin a new life somewhere else. The men are willing to commit the crime in exchange for her affection.

Brad Schwartz, a graduate student in the Performing Arts Department, will direct the play. The cast features local professional actress Liana Asim as Penelope. Asim has performed with the St. Louis Repertory Company and recently formed "Panjoo," an acting company comprising black women.

Other cast members are junior Foster Solomon as Olan, Penelope's father; Tom Jaeger, who graduated last semester, as Hemi, a slow-witted farmhand who is like a surrogate brother to Penelope; and professional actor Wilson Bell as Lester, an insurance salesman.

The competition is funded by a grant given to the University in 1983 by the distinguished writer A.E. Hotchkin. A 1940 graduate of the University, Hotchkin had taken English 16, a workshop and playwriting class founded by the late William Glasgow Bruce Carson, a professor of drama. Hotchkin's grant reinstated the course as Drama 351 and revived the competition connected with the course.

Tickets are $3 for the general public and $2 for senior citizens, students and Washington University faculty and staff. For more information, call 889-6543.

Architecture students host Bauhaus Ball

The School of Architecture's annual Bauhaus Ball will be held April 21 at Mossa Center, 1214 Washington Ave. The event begins at 6 p.m. with a charity auction of faculty art and gift certificates from local stores, restaurants and galleries. Dancing begins at 9 p.m.

Proceeds from the silent auction and ticket sales will go to Habitat for Humanity, a non-profit organization that helps build low-cost housing in St. Louis and nationwide.

The ball is named after the Bauhaus, a renowned design school established in Germany in 1919 that spawned an architectural design called functionalism. The formal ball, which is open to the public, is first held in the early 1980s as part of a sophomore design project assigned by Leslie J. Laskey, professor emeritus.

Today the students are not required to hold the senior project connected with their course work, but still carry on the tradition.

The event is held twice a year, in the fall and the spring. The design community in St. Louis helps to sponsor the spring ball, which is held in the Drama Studio, Room 206 Mallinckrodt Center.

Attached to the spring ball is a silent auction, an exhibit of works by students in the School of Architecture and the St. Louis chapter of the American Institute of Architects, with honorary chair Courtney Obata.

Tickets are $12 for students, $20 per couple, and $25 for professionals, $35 per couple. For more information or to make reservations, call 889-6200.

M.F.A. exhibit opens

Paintings, prints, sculptures and ceramics by Washington University School of Fine Arts graduate students will be on exhibit April 20-29 in the Gallery at the Washington University Fine Arts building.

An opening reception will be held from 5-7 p.m. April 20 in the gallery.

The free exhibit, titled "M.F.A. II," features the works of seven master's degree candidates. Participating artists are Jamie Johnson and Thomas Hunt, sculptors; Daniel Pauly, painter; Wayne Wiser, ceramicist Young Mok Kim, and printmakers Yvonne Dobensky and Betty Ruppa.

The gallery is open 10 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays and 1-5 p.m. weekends. For more information, call 889-4523.
Garland E. Allen, Ph.D., professor of biology, received an honorary degree at a second term on the board of trustees of the South Central Laboratory in Woods Hole, Mass. He also attended two seminars at Harvard University: one was on "The History of Printmaking Regional Social History" and the other was on "The History of Printmaking Regional Social History Exhition," 1900-1949" for the Department of Molecular Biology at Harvard Medical School. Allen also gave an invited paper on "Persistent Methodological Flaws in Theories of Biological Determination" as part of a day-long symposium on Race, Class, and Gender in Science at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in New Orleans. He presented the same paper at a symposium at Yale University this month.

Jenifer K.A. Klink, assistant professor in biology, delivered the 16th Annual Lecture in Biochemistry at Oregon State University. Klink is an expert in molecular biology and is being held in conjunction with his tenure at the University of California, San Francisco. Klink also lectured on the University's Biology Center in Bellagio, Italy, during the month of April. In May he will present a paper on the conference on plant biology and democracy in Coruna, Spain, which will be presented at the University of Transformation in Rome, Italy.

Have you done something noteworthy?

Washington University students, faculty, and staff members have been awarded a wealth of honors. The university celebrated a successful and memorable spring semester, with many students, faculty, and staff members receiving merit and recognition.

March to focus on safety awareness

Walter C. Herrick, dean of student affairs, and Bettina D. Hering, dean of the College of Education, held a forum to discuss the importance of safety awareness on campus.

Track teams compete for titles

While the men's track and field team will be in search of their third-consecutive conference title, the women's team will attempt to win their first crown at this weekend's University Athletic Association Outdoor Championships. The two-day event will be held April 22-23 at Emory University in Atlanta, Ga.

Optimism runs particularly high after last month's UAA Indoor Championships, held at the University of Chicago, where the women claimed their third-straight title and the women finished second behind powerful University of Rochester. Their team claimed victory in 15 of 15 events, including wins in each of the six field events. The women's team won three events and displayed newfound depth and ability.

Leading the way for the men will be last year's UAA outdoor outstanding performer, junior Allen Allen, Ga. Allen has already qualified for this year's NCAA Division III Championships in the shot put. Joining them in the throw is a medley in each of the throwing events will be Tim Walker, Chantilly, Tenn.

Swimmers, divers compete best season

Leaving a trail of shattered school records in their wake, the Washington University swimming and diving teams capped off a fantastic season by cracking the top five in the NCAA Division III Championships for the first time in the history of the program.

The men's team finished 16th at its meet, held in Brown Deer, Wis., while the women's team finished 17th in Williamsport, Mass.

After the Bears combined for a 15-2 dual meet record, won a pair of invitational titles and scored in the highly competitive Atlantic University Athletic Association Division III Championships, 11 team members extended the season by qualifying for the national meets. The meet was held in Brown Deer, Wis., while the women's team finished 17th in Williamsport, Mass.

Have you done something noteworthy?

Have you done something noteworthy?

Hanking, the UAA diver of the year, was named to the NCAA Division III Championships by her name to being named to the fifth-place finish on the one-meter board. The Bears are the only school in the top-three board.

A returning honorable mention All-America in the 50-yard freestyle, senior Karl Degernes, Bronwood, N.Y., returned the honor by placing 14th with a 21.99 time.

Dengenbach and Henry were joined by senior Boadie Dunlop, St. Paul, Minn., senior Steve Winsor, St. Louis, and sophomore Pete Flyh, Crystal Lake, Ill., in a quartet of remarkable relay performances with the five-man for individual events and the other three for relays — and combined to demolish eight varsity records.

Returning to swimming this season, the Bears' efforts were led by a pair of returning honorable mention All-America selections — junior Melissa Collins, Littleton, Colo., and sophomore Becky Hanking, Shelbyville, Ky.

The top eight finishers in each of the swimming events are tabbed All-America, while the next eight are recognized as honorable mention All-America.

Collins, who last year became the first woman swimmer in Washington University history to earn All-America status, rounded out the honor by placing eighth with a 2.28.46 clocking in the 200-yard backstroke. Collins also earned honorable mention honors by placing ninth in the 100-yard backstroke, and 11th in the 100-yard individual medley. All three of Collins' outings netted varsity records.

NEWSMAKERS

Washington University faculty and staff members have been involved in news stories around the world. Following is a digest of media coverage they received during the most recent week for their scholarly activities, research, and general expertise.

Higher levels of HDL, the "good" cholesterol, were found in two professors with heavy hips and trim waists rather than with those who possess, according to a study by Dr. Angela L. Trivedi, M.D., associate professor of medicine, that was published in the journal of the American Medical Association.

"Why do women have larger hips than men? Our study suggests that the difference may be related to sex hormones," Trivedi said.

The study, which was published in the journal of the American Medical Association.

"Why do women have larger hips than men? Our study suggests that the difference may be related to sex hormones," Trivedi said.

The study, which was published in the journal of the American Medical Association.

"Why do women have larger hips than men? Our study suggests that the difference may be related to sex hormones," Trivedi said.

The study, which was published in the journal of the American Medical Association.

"Why do women have larger hips than men? Our study suggests that the difference may be related to sex hormones," Trivedi said.

The study, which was published in the journal of the American Medical Association.
Thursday, April 19
11 a.m.-4 p.m. Department of Chemistry Seminar, "Mechanisms of Genetic Control of Transcription in Salivary Gland of Drosophila, Ph.D., Professor of Biological Sciences, Purdue U. 800 McDermott Medical Library.

Friday, April 20
5:45 a.m. English Colloquium, "Gaytritude and the Ethics of Desire," Leonard B. Ratner and Michele Z. Balsam, visitors from the University of California, Los Angeles, 435 South Ave.
6 p.m. Graduate Student Invitations to Study the Genetics of Coronary Heart Disease, Gerald Izenberg, WU assoc. prof. of history.

Friday, April 21
7 p.m. Graduate Student Invitations to Study the Genetics of Coronary Heart Disease, Gerald Izenberg, WU assoc. prof. of history.
8 p.m. Student Biotechnology Program, "Use of Recombinant DNA Technique to Study the Genetics of Coronary Heart Disease," Gerald Izenberg, WU assoc. prof. of history.
10 a.m.-5 p.m. Dept. of Pediatrics 13th Annual Mildred Trotter Lecture, "Hunting for Cures," Judith Hurst, WU reg. prof. of medicine and surgery.
11 a.m.-4 p.m. Residency Program in Pathology, "Diagnostic Challenges and the title of the event; also include the sponsoring department and the location.
12:30 p.m. "The Digital Hearing Aid Project: Very Early Intervention in Children with Congenital Hearing Loss," Donald S. Gearl, WU assoc. prof. of pediatrics and pediatrics.
10:45 p.m. "Playwriting Festival Award," Brown Hall.

Saturday, April 22
9 a.m.-11 a.m. "M.F.A. H." Exhibition of works by graduate students in the Department of English and Art History, Northwestern U. 10 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays; 1-5 p.m. weekends. For more info., call 889-6543.
12:30 p.m. "Prints by Johannes Lebek (1901-1985), a German Master of Woodcut," Special Collections exhibit. Through May 31-24-May 5. 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays. For more info., call 889-6543.
5:30 p.m. Assembly Lecture Series by Sergey Pegov, noted Soviet economist and professor of politics in Moscow, "The U.S. and Russia," Women's Bldg. Lounge. For more info., call 889-4801.
6 p.m. "Nutrition and Cancer," Mary B. H. Siderski, dietitian, Nutrition Department.
8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. "Teaching Workshop: Workshop for New Faculty and Graduate Students," 530 S. Washington Ave. 3:30-5 p.m. for new faculty, and 5:30-7 p.m. for grad. students. For more info., call 889-7802.
7:30 p.m. Dept. of Music Presents a Concert by the WU Collegium Musicum, directed by Bruce Craven, Graham Chapel.
For more info., call 889-5994.
8 p.m. "Playwriting Festival Award," Brown Hall.
10:45 p.m. "Playwriting Festival Award," Brown Hall.
12:30 p.m. "M.F.A. H." Exhibition of works by graduate students in the Department of English and Art History, Northwestern U. 10 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays; 1-5 p.m. weekends. For more info., call 889-6543.
5:30 p.m. Assembly Lecture Series by Sergey Pegov, noted Soviet economist and professor of politics in Moscow, "The U.S. and Russia," Women's Bldg. Lounge. For more info., call 889-4801.
6 p.m. "Nutrition and Cancer," Mary B. H. Siderski, dietitian, Nutrition Department.
8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. "Teaching Workshop: Workshop for New Faculty and Graduate Students," 530 S. Washington Ave. 3:30-5 p.m. for new faculty, and 5:30-7 p.m. for grad. students. For more info., call 889-7802.
7:30 p.m. Dept. of Music Presents a Concert by the WU Collegium Musicum, directed by Bruce Craven, Graham Chapel.
For more info., call 889-5994.
8 p.m. "Playwriting Festival Award," Brown Hall.
10:45 p.m. "Playwriting Festival Award," Brown Hall.
12:30 p.m. "M.F.A. H." Exhibition of works by graduate students in the Department of English and Art History, Northwestern U. 10 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays; 1-5 p.m. weekends. For more info., call 889-6543.
5:30 p.m. Assembly Lecture Series by Sergey Pegov, noted Soviet economist and professor of politics in Moscow, "The U.S. and Russia," Women's Bldg. Lounge. For more info., call 889-4801.
6 p.m. "Nutrition and Cancer," Mary B. H. Siderski, dietitian, Nutrition Department.
8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. "Teaching Workshop: Workshop for New Faculty and Graduate Students," 530 S. Washington Ave. 3:30-5 p.m. for new faculty, and 5:30-7 p.m. for grad. students. For more info., call 889-7802.
7:30 p.m. Dept. of Music Presents a Concert by the WU Collegium Musicum, directed by Bruce Craven, Graham Chapel.
For more info., call 889-5994.
8 p.m. "Playwriting Festival Award," Brown Hall.
10:45 p.m. "Playwriting Festival Award," Brown Hall.
12:30 p.m. "M.F.A. H." Exhibition of works by graduate students in the Department of English and Art History, Northwestern U. 10 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays; 1-5 p.m. weekends. For more info., call 889-6543.
5:30 p.m. Assembly Lecture Series by Sergey Pegov, noted Soviet economist and professor of politics in Moscow, "The U.S. and Russia," Women's Bldg. Lounge. For more info., call 889-4801.
6 p.m. "Nutrition and Cancer," Mary B. H. Siderski, dietitian, Nutrition Department.
8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. "Teaching Workshop: Workshop for New Faculty and Graduate Students," 530 S. Washington Ave. 3:30-5 p.m. for new faculty, and 5:30-7 p.m. for grad. students. For more info., call 889-7802.
7:30 p.m. Dept. of Music Presents a Concert by the WU Collegium Musicum, directed by Bruce Craven, Graham Chapel.
For more info., call 889-5994.
8 p.m. "Playwriting Festival Award," Brown Hall.
10:45 p.m. "Playwriting Festival Award," Brown Hall.
12:30 p.m. "M.F.A. H." Exhibition of works by graduate students in the Department of English and Art History, Northwestern U. 10 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays; 1-5 p.m. weekends. For more info., call 889-6543.