Time Capsule Sealed for Future; Expansion Fund Program Re-launched

The symbolic cornerstone dedication ceremony held May 16 at the Hospital was the official inauguration of Phase 2 in the Hospital’s Expansion Program for Excellence in Health Care.

During the ceremony a titanium time capsule was filled with messages, reports and other memorabilia so that future generations can know "how it was" in 1972.

Miss Susan Sachs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Sachs, placed the capsule in the cornerstone during the program held in Steinberg Amphitheater.

Subsequently the time capsule was returned to Nooter Corporation, who had donated it for the occasion, so that it could be properly sealed and the contents preserved. It has now been sunk in the northeast corner of the foundation of the new Forest Park Pavilion, the 180-bed patient care center scheduled for completion in 1974.

Fund Program - Phase 2

The cornerstone ceremony also highlighted the re-launching of the Hospital’s Fund Drive to raise $18.1 million in gifts and grants for the $21.5 million capital construction program.

The Expansion Fund, which was officially announced in June 1970, has already received gifts and pledges totaling more than $8 million.

Phase 1 of the Fund Program was discontinued at the close of 1970 in coordination with the Jewish Federation's efforts to raise maximum funds for the Israel Emergency Fund and other Federation activities.

According to Edward B. Greensfelder, president, the Fund Program will actively continue through 1972.

"We have been greatly encouraged by the response of those in the community who have endorsed this program," he said. "We sincerely appreciate those individuals, corporations and foundations who have made major commitments. Their recognition of the Jewish Hospital's contribution to the welfare of the total community is indeed gratifying.

"As a major teaching affiliate of the Washington University Medical School we are deeply concerned with providing the highest level of excellence in medical care, as well as educating young physicians.

"The highly qualified house staff which was appointed this year gives further emphasis to the success of the outstanding programs which Jewish Hospital conducts.

"I am confident that those in the community who have not as yet made a commitment will want to share in this Expansion Program as a community responsibility and an opportunity for service and achievement."

Wegusen Elected Associates President

At the May 24 board meeting of the Associates N. Robert Wegusen was elected President of the organization for 1972-73. Other new officers include vice presidents, M. Norman Orgel, M.D., and Jules L. Pass, secretary, Mrs. Lester Seasongood, and Treasurer, Abe J. Garland.

Robert Wegusen is a charter member of the Associates and has served on the board of directors since the organization was established four years ago. He has been active in the United Fund and the Jewish Federation and has served on the board of Temple Israel.

Five New Physicians Join Full-time Medical Staff

On July 1 five physicians joined the full-time group in the Department of Medicine at the Hospital. Dr. Herbert Lubowitz, a native of Massachusetts and an honor graduate of the Washington University School of Medicine, will become Chief of the Renal Division.

Dr. Lubowitz obtained his clinical training at the Bronx Municipal Hospital and the Albert Einstein Medical School in New York. Subsequently, he did research in nephrology at the National Heart and Lung Institute at Bethesda and in the Renal Division at the Washington University School of Medicine. He is presently an Associate Professor of Medicine at Washington University, Chairman of the Medical Advisory Board of the Metropolitan St. Louis Kidney Foundation and a member of several professional societies.

Dr. Lubowitz, who replaces Dr. Rex Jamison who left Jewish Hospital to become Associate Professor of Medicine at the Stanford School of Medicine at Palo Alto, hopes to revitalize not only the research, but the clinical aspects of kidney disease here. With this view in mind, he has under development a four-bed Renal Intensive Care Unit and an Acute Dialysis Program which should get into full swing this summer.

Dr. Harvey Liebhaber, a native of New York and an AOA graduate of the New York University School of Medicine, took his postgraduate training at Barnes Hospital and then served in the Epidemiology Unit at Atlanta, and subsequently in the Pakistan-SEATO Cholera Research Laboratory. He is presently completing two years in investigation in GI Disease at Barnes Hospital.

Dr. Liebhaber has made significant contributions to the field of virology both in regard to the hepatitis virus and the virus of German measles. He will join Dr. Little in the recently reorganized Division of Cancer, Immunology and Infectious Disease as head of the section on Infectious Disease in that division.

Joseph L. Kinzie, a native of Roanoke, Virginia and an AOA graduate of the University of Virginia School of Medicine, will become the first full-time Director of Gastroenterology at Jewish Hospital. Dr. Kinzie had his clinical training at Barnes Hospital and then served in the Epidemiology Unit at Atlanta, and subsequently in the Pakistan-SEATO Cholera Research Laboratory at Dacca, East Pakistan. He is presently completing two years in investigation in GI Disease at Barnes Hospital.

Stephen S. Lefrak, a native of New York and an AOA graduate of the Downstate University Medical School in New York, took his early clinical training at the Boston City Hospital and his subsequent pulmonary training at Kings County Hospital and at the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center in New York. Dr. Lefrak will join the Pulmonary Division and will be in charge of inhalation therapy as well as taking on a major share in the teaching of house staff and medical students in pulmonary disease at Jewish Hospital. He will also be an Instructor in Medicine at the School.

Debesh C. Mazumdar is a native of India and took his medical and postdoctoral training at the All India Institute of Medical Sciences, New Delhi, India. He has had further training in the United States at the University of Mississippi and most recently has completed a two-year fellowship program in the Nephrology Division at Washington University School of Medicine. Dr. Mazumdar will join Dr. Lubowitz' Renal Division and will be an Instructor in Medicine at the University.
New Unit Allows Continuous Monitoring, Patient Mobility

Technological advances are continuously cropping up in the field of surgery, facilitating procedures and adding new dimensions to existing facilities. So it is with a new device now being used in the area of heart surgery.

Electronic monitoring devices presently in use in the operating room and the Surgical Intensive Care Unit allow continuous observation and measurement of the electrocardiogram and of pressures in various chambers of the heart and circulatory system of patients undergoing cardiac surgery during the operation and the immediate postoperative period.

Recently, the Hospital has added on 2 Steinberg a new four-bed intermediate care unit for postoperative cardiac patients who are ready to leave the Intensive Care Unit. The unit is equipped with a remote monitoring system capable of continuous simultaneous observation of the heart rate and electrocardiogram of any or all four patients. This is a telemetering system much like that used to monitor the activity of the hearts of astronauts in outer space. The patient wears three tiny electrodes and a transmitter set through which the electrocardiogram and heart rate are radio transmitted to the central nursing station. Any abnormalities are automatically recorded, and the staff is able to see what the heart is doing at all times.

This sophisticated device allows for continuous observation of the heart action while at the same time giving the patient freedom of movement and ability to increase his activity and proceed with his convalescence. The monitoring devices presently installed in the Operating Room and the Surgical Intensive Care Unit necessitate that the electrocardiogram wires plug into a cable connected to the monitoring unit, thereby confining the patient to one place and restricting his physical activity while he is being monitored. This new unit can transmit from a range of 250 feet, which means that the patient’s heart activity can still be observed carefully and closely without confining the patient to bed or to his room. To date, this unit does not exist in any hospital in this area for this purpose. The use of this method, in effect, means that the cardiac surgical patient can now be closely monitored from the beginning of his operation throughout his convalescence, thus adding another safety factor in the care of these patients.

Fourteen new graduates are the first to participate in the newly-initiated nurse internship program to aid them in the transition from students to nurses.

Nurse Internship Program
Developed for New Graduates

To aid new nurses in making the transition from learning students to full-time, practicing nurses, the Hospital has introduced a 24-week Nurse Internship Program which began June 19.

The In-Service Education Division of Nursing Service at the Hospital has developed this program to provide clinical experience in developing the graduate nurse's skills and her performance of nursing care procedures. It will also enable the nurses to begin to develop their leadership qualities by offering them the opportunity to perform as team leaders.

The primary objective of this internship period is to give the graduate nurse experience in making assignments, patients' assessments and nursing care plans. Through this experience she will become acquainted with the roles of all levels of nursing personnel. This learning period will show her the effect of other hospital departments on nursing care, as well as her own responsibility to the team members and as a team leader. She will study organizational skills which will enable her to function more effectively. Experience on the evening and night shifts with another R.N. will familiarize her with the nursing care needs of patients 24 hours a day.

The program involves a rigorous, varied routine for the 24-week period. A two-week orientation period for the nurses will be followed by nine weeks assigned to a medical nursing unit. That time will be further divided into four weeks functioning as a team member, two weeks as a team leader, at least one week on a 3-11:30 shift, one week on an 11-7:30 shift and one week on the Medical Intensive Care Unit. Similarly a nine-week assignment on a surgical nursing unit will consist of the same type of experience as on the medical rotation. The graduate nurse will spend her final four weeks on any area of her choice.

During the internship weekly conferences will be held by the In-Service coordinator of the program, Miss Sylvia Miller, R.N., and each nurse intern will be responsible to the head nurse.

The Hospital feels that this type of program will assist the new graduate in accepting her chosen role with less confusion and apprehension, and a greater confidence and more realistic perspective than is now possible in the basic educational programs.

Fourteen graduate nurses are presently enrolled in the program.

Recreational Therapy Needs Transport Van

The Division of Recreational Therapy, Department of Rehabilitation Medicine, is in need of a van to transport rehabilitation patients to and from various sports and cultural activities. Tickets for these events are either complimentary or gifts.

Patients attend these events as part of their total rehabilitation program. Such activities are invaluable in helping these patients strive toward regaining their independence and re-learning how to function as handicapped persons in normal social situations.

The type of van needed must be specially equipped for the patients with a hydraulic lift, safety equipment and hand rails, and should be able to accommodate eight to ten wheelchairs. The cost is approximately $7,000. For further information or suggestions, please contact Mrs. Barbara Janes, Director of Community Relations and Development at the Hospital.
Training Program in Psychology Fully Approved

The Psychology Training Program of the Division of Psychology, Department of Psychiatry, has been given full approval by the Committee on Accreditation of the American Psychological Association. The program provides full-time clinical and didactic training for psychology graduate students in a one-year internship program and for practicum course work.

Three interns and two practicum students from doctoral programs in clinical psychology from the St. Louis area are currently enrolled in the program. In the future, applicants will be obtained from psychology departments throughout the country. Interns in psychology receive professional clinical experience in the outpatient clinic, the inpatient unit and in several community agencies. Clinical work is supplemented by an extensive program of seminars and conferences.

The program is under the direction of Dr. Norman J. Matulef, Psychologist-in-Chief, and is a part of the comprehensive training program of mental health professionals of the Department of Psychiatry.

Interns to Fill Psychology Posts

According to Dr. Norman J. Matulef, Chief Psychologist and Director of Psychology Training, there will be three new psychology internship appointments beginning September 1. The new interns are Tim Jovick and David Zemelman from St. Louis University and Louis Janda from Arizona State University.

Nursing Units Using Team Approach

A revised team approach in nursing is now being introduced to the nursing units. Team nursing involves planned patient-centered care by a team of nursing personnel working together as a structured group under the direction of a team leader. In this way the needs of the patients can be easily identified and the varying skills of the group directly applied to meet these needs.

The team consists of a nurse as the team leader, licensed practical nurses and nurse aides as team members, a medication nurse and a unit secretary. The team leader directs and supervises the total nursing care for her group and assists the members in performing the nursing care for the patients.

This approach to nursing permits the registered nurse to spend more time at patients’ bedsides assessing their needs and administering direct patient care.

In addition a nursing interview form is being used to record information which will assist the nurse in evaluating the needs of the patient. Nursing care goals and methods to meet these goals are being recorded on a nursing care plan to ensure continuity of care for each patient.

Walking rounds are also being initiated on the units. Nurses will no longer sit down for reports. The off-going team leader reports to the on-coming team leader each patient’s condition prior to the visit. Both nurses then go into the room and check the patient’s condition.

Daily assignments are given to the team as a group to enable them to function as a team in providing care for the selected number of patients.

Short conferences are conducted on each shift by each team to discuss specific patients and to revise nursing care plans. Doctors, social workers, dietitians, etc., are asked to provide information for these conferences to assist the nurses in providing better patient care.

This procedure was first introduced on 4 South and will eventually be the practice at all nursing stations. The same plan is also in effect for student nurses on two floors at this time.

Nursing is a process of four phases, assessing, planning, implementing and evaluating patient care. The Hospital’s nursing service believes this can be most effectively accomplished by the team approach to nursing.
Ben A'Kiba Aid Society, 80 Years Of Service

As the Ben A'Kiba Aid Society celebrates its 80th birthday, the members can proudly review the past 79 years with a fulfilling sense of accomplishment, for these years are filled with the numerous activities which have made the Ben A'Kiba Aid Society an outstanding service organization.

To Jewish Hospital the Ben A'Kiba Aid Society has been a shining light through the years. From their first gifts of hospital gowns and artificial appliances to the latest check, $2,000 designated for the Ben A'Kiba Therapeutic Gymnasium established in 1969, the Society has given generously and continuously. And in so doing they have helped the Hospital to provide the necessary equipment to give comfort and the most modern advantages in health care to countless patients.

Among their earlier gifts to the Hospital, the Ben A'Kiba Aid Society donated a chair for eye and ear examinations, an examining table, a microscope, a suction machine for ear, nose and throat problems, electric fans, chairs for the clinics and wheel chairs. In addition, they have contributed funds for special equipment as the needs arise.

In more recent years the Society has supported special projects and research at the Hospital. In 1947 they established a three-year fellowship in radiology for x-ray and cancer research, and in 1954 the group began the drive to establish the Ben A'Kiba Play Therapy Room in the Department of Child Psychiatry with a gift of $10,000. In subsequent years they continued to support this project with monies designated for therapy equipment and for books in the Child Psychiatry library.

In 1966 the group elected to support the Ben A'Kiba Recreation Center in the Hospital's Department of Rehabilitation Medicine and donated an initial gift of $2,000, with a commitment for $1,500 annually to keep the Center supplied with games and equipment. Today the Ben A'Kiba Lounge in Rehabilitation Medicine is the hub of numerous activities providing rehabilitation patients with a recreational therapy area complete with television, stereo, movie projector, portable pool table and ping pong table, all donated by Ben A'Kiba. These gifts have proved an invaluable source of therapeutic stimulation as well as recreation for the patients.

The total amount of funds contributed by the Ben A'Kiba Aid Society to Jewish Hospital is $48,500. The total amount of care and services and equipment provided by these funds is priceless in meaning to the patients who have benefitted from them. So from Jewish Hospital to the Ben A'Kiba Aid Society, Happy Birthday with gratitude for your continuous support through the years.

Candy Stripers, Teen-Aiders Look to Future

Once again one can see the familiar sight of white-shirted youths and red-and-white-stripe pinafored girls as the Teen-Aiders and Candy Stripers fill the Hospital for another summer internship in volunteer service.

The Candy Stripper-Teen-Aider program is but one of the many volunteer groups covered under the Auxiliary's Volunteer Services program.

This youth volunteer corps, however, is somewhat different from other volunteer groups. Not only are they here out of interest and a desire to help, but also with an eye to the future and possible careers in the medical field.

Candy Stripers and Teen-Aiders are selected each summer from applications and must be between 14 and 17 years of age. The only other requirement is that they put in 50 hours of volunteer work for the summer. This season 125 young people are enrolled in the program doing volunteer work wherever they're needed. And they can be found in all areas of the Hospital – the coffee shop, pharmacy, research, maternity and other nursing floors, transport, the emergency room, the gift cart, the information desk, occupational therapy, the Clover Garden. For many of these teens this apprenticeship provides the initial experience for what may some day become their chosen fields. Of the total, 45 are repeat volunteers.

Interviews with a random sample of Candy Stripers and Teen-Aiders show that all have heard of the program through friends or relatives and have found the experience of working with the patients and the Hospital staff quite satisfying.

Most of the volunteers display interests in the medical profession as nurses, physicians and there are a hopeful pediatrician and a physical therapist in the group.

Whatever the future holds, these young people will have spent a worthwhile summer helping others while at the same time broadening their own experiences.
N. R. Society Pledges $10,000 In Continued Support of Ob-Gyn

The Noshim Rachmonioth Mothers' and Babies' Welfare Society has pledged $10,000 to the Hospital's Expansion Fund to help provide a new warm room for the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology. With this pledge the N. R. Society's contributions to the Hospital over the years total approximately $100,000! The real worth of these contributions, however, lies in the new lives brought into the world with the best care available. Indeed the Noshim Rachmonioth Mothers' and Babies' Welfare Society is truly composed of "Women of Mercy" as the name denotes.

The N. R. Society was founded in 1907 to assist indigent mothers and babies. Today the group's goals remain the same, though they have been broadened in scope to include the entire area of obstetrics and gynecology as well as research in that field.

During the presidency of Mrs. David D. Israel, the N. R. Society supported the first 'hospital case', the complete care of an indigent mother and baby. Today all of these cases are cared for at Jewish Hospital. During World War II, the N. R. Society donated several incubators and anesthesia machines to the Hospital. So began their long list of generous contributions and dedicated support in the hopes of helping both mothers and babies who needed and would in the future need special care.

In 1947 the N. R. Society established the Frances B. Israel Research Fund at the Hospital which sponsored obstetrical research and made possible the initial study in RH factor investigation. This research has received worldwide acclaim and N. R. funds are continuing to support new areas of research in obstetrical medicine. At their recent annual donor luncheon, the N. R. Society presented a $1,500 check to David A. Gee, executive vice president, for the Frances B. Israel Research Fund.

In commemoration of their 50th anniversary in 1957, the N. R. Society donated the complete furnishings and equipment for the new nurseries at Jewish Hospital. That same year, the Nadah Club, which had joined with the N. R. Society in 1940, furnished the Fathers' Room. An obstetrical delivery table is another of their numerous contributions to the Hospital.

In making this latest pledge to the Hospital for a warm room, the N. R. Society will be helping to provide a place for babies to be taken upon delivery with the latest equipment. The Hospital is grateful to the N. R. Society for its continued support in helping the Hospital to provide the most advanced treatment in the area of obstetrics.

Eight Graduate From Hospital Med Tech School

Eight students enrolled in the Hospital's School of Medical Technology were graduated and received their certificates June 30.

Students in the program must either have a degree in a science or finish their college studies with a degree in medical technology as they end their clinical year.

The new graduates are Genyth De Salvo, Jacquelyn Michel, Deborah Parker, Paula Schmegel, Diane Sievers, Mary Twillman, James Vaughan and Paul Weiland. Both Deborah Parker and Jacquelyn Michel have been employed by the Hospital as medical technologists.

Jewish Hospital is one of six hospitals in the area offering this program which is approved by the American Medical Association's Department of Allied Medical Professions and Services. After completing their clinical year, students take the M.T. (ASCP) National Registry Exam and the class averages for Jewish Hospital have always been above the national mean.

The Hospital's School of Medical Technology was reactivated in 1968. As the program enters its fifth year, ten students are beginning their clinical training at the Hospital.
It was a cool, crisp day June 21, but the pool was heated and the sun broke through around mid-afternoon to make a perfect day for the staff nurses picnic. The penetrating smell of open-fire cooking permeated the air as members of the nursing staff and faculty arrived in shifts at the home of Mrs. Stanley M. Cohen for the annual affair.

The picnic, sponsored by the nursing committee of the board of directors, is a gesture of appreciation to all staff nurses and faculty for their outstanding service to the Hospital and the community.

A little relaxation, some swimming and badminton initiated this year's activities. Then the buffet line started to form for a tremendous cookout spread geared for seconds. The day was topped off with a friendly game of bingo for a tub full of prizes.

It was a delightful affair and a total success once again, as can be witnessed by a few candid photos of the gang from work at play.

Hostess Mrs. Stanley M. Cohen, left, chats with Edward B. Greensfelder, Hospital president, and Mrs. M. Erwin Bry, Auxiliary president.

Gifts and Bequests

The Josal Fund has made a grant of $25,000 to the Hospital to establish the Josal Professional Services Fund.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Levy, co-trustees of the Fund, stated that the gift has been made in recognition of the Hospital's high standard of medical and surgical care and the superior standard of the medical staff.

This fund will be used to support professional programs in the Departments of Medicine and Surgery.

The Sachs Fund has made a gift of $5,000 to the Louis and Sarah Sachs Memorial Fund which is used to purchase urgently needed equipment.

Dr. Gene W. Spector, radiologist, has received an educational grant of $1,500 from the Harry Freund Memorial Foundation. The grant will enable Dr. Spector to attend the International Congress of Angiography being held in Bruno, Czechoslovakia this summer. Trustees for the Foundation include S. E. Freund, Mrs. Flora D. Freund and Dr. Jacob G. Probstein.

Henry T. Brinckwirth has bequeathed a gift of $500 to the Hospital. The gift has been placed in the Expansion Fund.

The Hospital has received a $5,000 bequest from the estate of Mrs. Paul Treuman to establish a Stroke Registry Fund in the Department of Rehabilitation Medicine. The Stroke Registry records personal and medical information about patients who have suffered from cerebral vascular accidents. This information then serves as a research tool to establish a prognosis for these patients and predictions for their rehabilitation potential.

Dr. Franz U. Steinberg, director of the department, will administer the project.

The Hospital has received a $500 bequest from the estate of Bernie A. Ross. This gift has been added to the Bernie A. Ross Cardiovascular Research Fund which was established by members of the family.

Employees Complete Central Service Technician Course

Three Jewish Hospital employees completed a two-semester Central Service Technician course at Forest Park Junior College and were graduated May 24. The graduates are Miss Sandra Bruenger and Mrs. Peggy Wyant, of Central Supply, and Mrs. Lorene Jones, laboratory.

This year a total of 24 graduates represented 12 hospitals in the metropolitan area.

Nadean E. Wright, R.N., Director, Central Medical and Surgical Supply Services, established this program at Jewish Hospital in 1969, and taught it at the Hospital for three years. This year Mrs. Wright moved the course to the junior college and maintains her position as instructor. Students receive six community college credits for 32 weeks of study in the course.

Only two other Central Service Technician programs similar to this are offered in the entire country.
Miss Marguerite Odell, Director of Volunteer Services, participated as a panelist in a workshop sponsored by the Sears Foundation on April 12. The topic, “Getting It All Together”, dealt with voluntary organizations and the contemporary scene. Panelists discussed the volunteer program in their own organization. More than 150 people attended from the eastern half of Missouri including presidents, chairmen and leaders of various volunteer organizations.

Nadean E. Wright, R.N., Director of Central Medical Surgical Supply Services, spoke at the Great Lakes Health Congress in Chicago April 17 on setting up the central service procedure manual and using the procedure manual as a teaching and orientation tool. She also spoke on policy determination within the department and responsibilities of the central service department regarding committee participation at the American Hospital Institute on Central Service Management at Atlanta April 24.

Barbara Janes, Director, Community Relations and Development, spoke on Memorial Giving in the development section of the Midwest Health Congress May 31 in Kansas City. She was also the main speaker for the Ohio Association of Development Directors meeting June 21 at Columbus discussing the Hospital’s Expansion Program which won the 1971 Harold J. Seymour National Honors Award given by the National Association for Hospital Development. Mrs. Janes has recently been appointed to the Missouri Hospital Association Public Information and Program Committee.

Rabbi Lawrence Siegel, Jewish Community Chaplain, participated at the St. Louis University Coronary Care Nursing Institute dealing with the “Needs of Jewish Patients in M.I.C.U.”

Judith Dodd, R.N., assistant head nurse, nursery, is one of fifteen nurses from eight states selected to participate in an intensive, three-week clinical specialty course in the care of high-risk newborns at the University of Colorado Medical Center. The course is designed to review basic principles, new concepts and current research in the management and care of premature and other high-risk infants.

Henry Arnold, Animal Facility, has successfully completed the Ralston Purina Training Course in Laboratory Animal Care.

Jerry Foriester has been promoted to Administrative Manager of the Emergency Room. He will be responsible for coordinating all activities related to patient service in that area. He was previously Administrative Assistant, medicine in the nursing department.

Three members of the nursing staff have recently been appointed head nurses. Mrs. Terry Starwalt, R.N., will head the nursing unit on three Steinberg. She was assistant head nurse. Mrs. Donna Adamec, R.N., is acting head nurse in the Medical Intensive Care Unit. Mrs. Dolly Woolbright, R.N., will act as evening supervisor in the nursing office.

Mrs. Worth Named Housekeeping Director

Mrs. Henrietta (Penny) Worth has recently been named Acting Director of Housekeeping for the Hospital.

Mrs. Worth’s lengthy tenure with the Hospital started 13½ years ago when she joined the staff as a psychiatric aide in child psychiatry. She subsequently moved into teaching the primary grades in child psychiatry during the 30-day evaluation periods. Five years ago she moved to Housekeeping and began her duties in that area as a supervisor. Later during her stint as Assistant Director of Housekeeping, Mrs. Worth received the Meritorious Service Award for 1972 presented for extraordinary service to the Hospital.

Mrs. Worth and her husband John have five children ranging from ages 9 to 20. She finds her work immensely rewarding and especially treasures the many warm friendships she has cultivated within the past 13 years.
Dr. Robert Burstein, left, co-director of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, joins Dr. and Mrs. Shlomo Mannor and their fourth child, daughter Adi Tony born May 25 at the Hospital, as they call home to notify the family in Tel Aviv. Dr. Mannor is an assistant professor at Tel Aviv Technical University, and a research fellow at Washington University's Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology. His wife is a professional artist. They are here for a one-year stay.

Mrs. Arthur Davidson (second from left), Junior Past Matron of Sunray Chapter #426, Order of the Eastern Star, presents a check for $500 to Dr. Alexander Geha, assistant director of Surgery at the Hospital, to purchase a Flo Meter Probe for the department. Other past Matrons attending the ceremony are, from left, Mrs. Edgar Kriesman, Mrs. Jacob Meliman and Mrs. Irwin Fischer. The gift represents Mrs. Davidson's special project as Worthy Matron. William Rosen served as Patron and assisted in raising the funds.

While Rabbi Lawrence Siegel, Community Chaplain, and Mrs. Bernice Grossman look on, Mrs. Rose Engel kindles the Sabbath lights just as she has done every Friday night for the past eight years.
